Senate Committee Restores Cuts in Foreign Aid Money

$792 Million of $1.1 Billion Reduction by House Returned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee has responded to a plea by President Kennedy and restored to the foreign aid money bill much of the funds cut by the House.

Tacked back onto the bill was $792,400,000 of the $1,124,400,000 House reduction.

Making the day doubly sweet for the administration, the committee loosened shackles placed by the House on the way some of the aid funds may be spent.

The appropriations measure now goes to the Senate floor carrying $4,422 800,000 for foreign aid. There says Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, administration forces face the "fight of our lives" to beat back aid slashers.

Sets Ceilings

Kennedy originally asked for $4,961,300,000 in foreign aid. A bill setting ceilings for military and economic spending abroad this year cut the request to $4,754,800,000. Then the House this month voted its big cut.

Even if the amount voted by the committee is approved by the full Senate, the appropriations finally available to Kennedy likely will be somewhat less because a conference committee will have to choose between the Senate and House figures.

In addition to changing the money totals the Senate committee modified House amendments aimed at banning aid to countries whose ships carry arms or other supplies to Cuba. Kennedy would waive the ban.

And the committee substituted for a House bar against any aid to Poland and Yugoslavia discretionary authority for Kennedy to extend economic help to those countries.

Mississippi Democrat Quits National Party

GULFPORT, Miss (AP)— Mississippi's State Democratic chairman, Bidwell Adam of Gulfport, told a cheering crowd he is through with the National Democratic Party because of its stand in the University of Mississippi desegregation case.

"The National Democratic Party will have to get somebody else to carry their banner," Adam told a meeting of Harrison County Democrats at the county courthouse Thursday night

Adam said, "I am never going to sever my position with the people of Mississippi, nor do I intend to sever my relations with the Democratic Party in Mississippi.

"However, I am not going to permit the Democratic Party in Mississippi to be used and subverted by the national organization and northern radicals."

'Kangaroo Court' Has Victim 'Hopping Mad'

MIAMI Fla. (AP)—Judge Gerald J. Klein said a traffic offender—one of the last of 200 cases he handled in a single night—paid a $10 fine and then hopped across the courtroom, bounding up and down.

"Why are you walking that way?" the judge asked.

"If I'm in a kangaroo court I thought I ought to act like a kangaroo," the man replied.

The judge lectured him on the dignity of courts then let him go.

News of Berlin, Havana Pushed In Background

Quiet College Town of Oxford Takes Spotlight

BY HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a day of gray skies, rain and tension in Washington.

For once, Berlin and Havana were pushed into the background The city of crisis had become a usually quiet college town of 5,000 in the Deep South—Oxford, Miss.

Helmeted and club-carrying Mississippi peace officers awaited an expected big push by U.S. marshals to put James H Meredith, a Negro, into the all-white University of Mississippi.

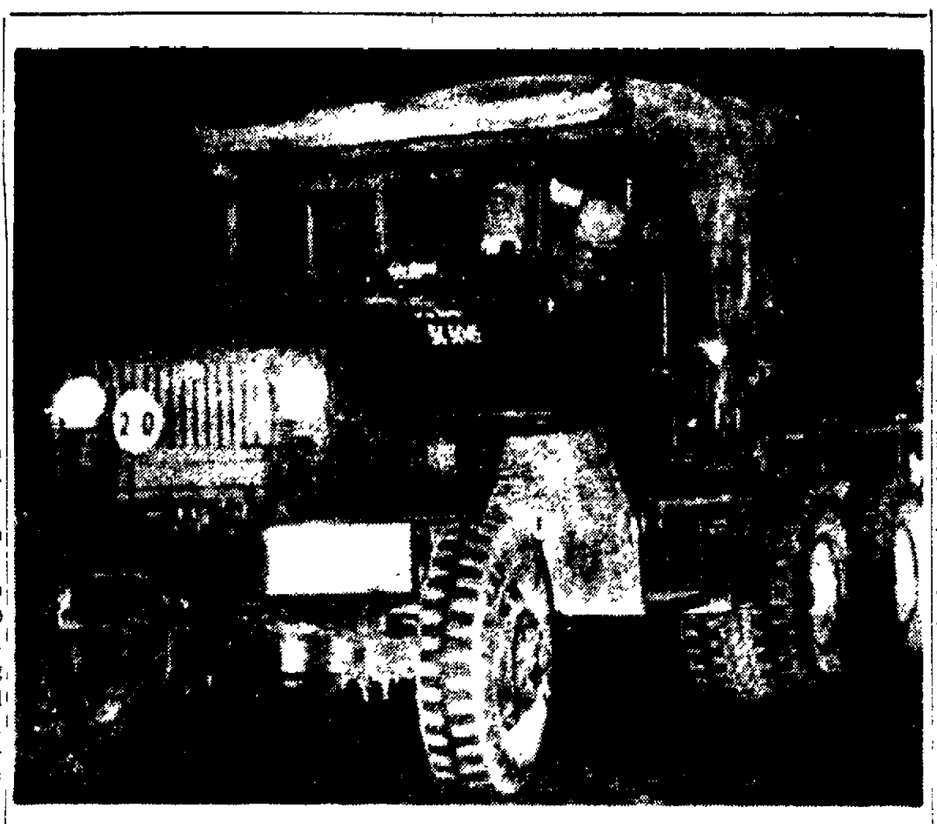

For days the conflict between the federal government and the state of Mississippi had sputtered and flared Thursday a showdown was brewing

"In the Wind"

Reporters felt that something was in the wind as they crowded the Justice Department press room — just across the corridor from the office of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

For most of the morning — and afternoon too—Kennedy was closeted with his top aides receiving reports and mapping strategy.

Unofficial Source Reports Truce by Governor Barnett, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — The citizen army of Mississippi peace officers disappeared today from the University of Mississippi campus with no indication if this signalled the end of resistance to enrollment of Negro James H. Meredith.

Amid mounting federal pressure, reports from good but unofficial sources told of a weekend truce reached between Gov. Ross Barnett and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

The Justice Department in Washington quickly denied the reports.

But, the Justice spokesman did not confirm or deny that the governor and Atty. Gen. Kennedy talked by telephone during Thursday night.

During the time this reported agreement was being negotiated, a detachment of Army Engineers moved into Memphis, ready to extend administrative and logistic support to a huge force of U. S. marshals massed at Millington Naval Air Station.

The defiant governor of Mississippi did not show up for his contempt hearing in New Orleans before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at the appointed hour of 10 o'clock this morning.

But, he had not been seen in

Barnett Absent, But Trial Opens

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals went ahead with Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett's contempt trial today despite the absence of Barnett from the courtroom.

The 64-year-old governor — who has vowed to go to jail rather than integrate his alma mater, the University of Mississippi—was reported in Jackson.

Court attaches explained that civil contempt proceedings may be tried with the defendant not present.

Bill to Hike Postal Rates Passes Senate

Enactment Would Mean Cent Raise For All Letters

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill that would increase both postal rates and the pay of federal employes has won Senate approval by an overwhelming 72-3 vote.

If enacted, it would mean a penny hike in postage for regular and air mail letters and a wage boost averaging about 10 per cent for 1.6 million government workers.

The next step is up to the House If it takes the Senate measure as is, the bill goes to President Kennedy for signing into law If the House balks, a joint conference would have to work out a compromise.

The House last January passed a bill designed to bring in $690 million a year more in postal revenue But this measure does not provide for an increase for postal and other government workers

In Thursday's debate Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, saw the two-step $1,049,000,000 pay hike as an effort "to buy votes" in an election year. And, Sen. A. Willis Robertson D-Va., one of the three who voted against the bill, said it was calculated to make everybody happy except the taxpayer.

The pay raise would go into effect before the election, Robertson noted, and the postal rates rise afterward.

Sens Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., and John J. Williams, R-Del., joined Robertson in voting against the bill. Lausche was one of four senators who, while not voting, went on record against it by arranging 'pairs" with other senators who favored the measure.

Police Use Tear Gas Against Integrationists Demonstrating in Cairo

CAIRO Ill. (AP)—Police used tear gas to disperse a crowd of integrationist demonstrators who gathered in front of police headquarters Thursday night.

Illinois State Police, called to the scene, said the 250 to 300 persons were protesting the arrest of 28 marchers in downtown Cairo earlier in the evening. At least 15 more were arrested during the second protest.

Police arrested 27 Negroes and one white person earlier for violating a city ordinance prohibiting parading without a permit.

The marchers, out for the third straight night, carried placards which demanded a human relations council and protested alleged police brutality.

'Democrats Look Ahead'

Battle Cry for Kennedy Campaign Developing

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP)—President Kennedy has worked up a clear, uncomplicated battle cry for his headlong venture into the 1962 congressional campaigns. He puts it this way Democrats look ahead and are good for the country. Republicans look back and don't know where they're going.

Kennedy played hard on the theme at a Democratic rally in the rain here Thursday night, just as he had at Harrisburg, Pa., a week ago

Men close to the President believe that's the main line he will take through an arduous five weeks of stumping across the land for Democratic congressional and gubernatorial candidates.

Statewide Telecast

Kennedy cut short his prepared speech when rain began to soak the 10,000 who trooped to Wheeling Island Stadium for the Democratic doings. He used less than 15 of the 20 minutes set aside for him on a statewide telecast of the rally. He liked West Virginians too much, he said, to keep them out in the wet.

Kennedy recalled why he liked them so much, too. It was in West Virginia that he won a vital presidential primary victory over Sen. Hubert H Humphrey, D-Minn.

"This is the place where the Democratic victory of 1960 had its start," Kennedy said, "and I assure you tonight that it will also be the starting place for the Democratic victory of 1962."

Kennedy avoided mention of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower by name But with almost a snarl, he said the national government in the 1950s had left West Virginia "on the beach, to decline and rot."

West Virginia, which has been in economic straits, is on the way to its best year ever, Kennedy said. He claimed for his administration a goodly share of the credit, citing defense contracts, public works, highway funds, loans and grants.

Crash Survivors Arrive in Antwerp

Rescue Ship 'Celerina' Carries 27 Persons Who Survived Disaster

ANTWERP, Belgium —(AP)—Survivors of the Flying Tiger airliner that ditched in the Atlantic waved and shouted with joy at the sight of land as the rescue ship Celerina reached Antwerp today.

U.S. Air Force Maj Harry O. Benson of Marshfield Hill, Mass., cried out. "Everybody of our group is in good physical condition!"

The Swiss freighter carried 27 of the survivors it plucked from stormy seas 500 miles off Ireland on Sunday after the chartered airliner with 76 persons aboard—mostly American servicemen and their families—made a crashed landing on a flight to West Germany.

Of 48 survivors, 21 have since been transferred to hospitals in Ireland and England Twelve bodies were recovered. Sixteen other passengers are missing and presumed dead.

Aboard the Celerina, the survivors lined the deck rails or peered through portholes as the rescue ship moved up the River Scheldt to Antwerp. Some wore makeshift clothes provided them by the Deer Sends 2 To Hospital At Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Two men were injured and are in Clintonville Community hospital as a result of being charged by a buck deer as feed hoppers were being filled at a licensed deer park about 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

Hospitalized are Gil Kuehl, 56, who had an arm and hand pierced by the buck's horns and Roger Mikulski, 28, who had a horn pierce through his arm above the wrist.

The men are employees of the Pine Manor Rest Home, route 3, and the deer park is adjacent to it. Kuehl had gone to fill the feed hoppers and was charged from the back by a 6-year-old buck deer. The deer got him down and Kuehl's cries for help were heard by Mikulski and Jack Waite, owner of Pine Manor, who came to his rescue. Waite was not hospitalized but had his back and a leg scraped.

The deer was killed after the attack. It was in the yard with another yearling buck, some fawns and does, according to Waite.

Prince Hassan Returns to Yeman

ADEN (AP)—Yemen's princely delegate to the U N. headed home in the face of death threats today to claim the family throne after rebels announced they had killed the newly installed monarch and proclaimed a republic.

The delegate, Prince Hassan, acted as broadcasts from Yemen's capital of Sana said military rebels destroyed the royal Palace with artillery Wednesday night, burying beneath debris his nephew, the new imam, Mohammad al Badr, 35.

Hassan declared, as he boarded a plane in New York Thursday night, that he was returning to the little Arab kingdom as the legitimate chief of state and rightful heir to its ancient feudal throne.

Union and Railroad Officials Summoned to Another Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W Willard Wirtz summoned the high command of railroad unions to a conference today in an effort to end the 30-day telegraphers strike against the Chicago and North Western Railway.

He said the public is entitled to an immediate settlement of the nine-state, harvest-time walkout.

Wirtz and Francis A. O'Neill Jr. of the National Mediation Board asked the 22-member Railway Labor Executives Association to a morning session on the long walk out.

United States Sends Relief to Flood Victims

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—The United States sped relief to Spain's flood victims today as new rains spread more misery through the ravaged industrial districts around Barcelona.

Touring the region stricken by the flash floods of Tuesday night, Capt. Gen. Agustin Munoz-Grandez, vice president of the Franco government, said the death toll may reach 600 or more.

It was officially announced 473 bodies have been recovered. More than 300 persons were still listed unofficially as missing. The injured totaled 200. About 1,500 also were reported homeless.

U.S forces at the joint Spanish-American airbase at Zaragoza sent earth-moving equipment to help clear up the rubble. The U.S. Embassy in Madrid sent powdered milk, rice, noodles and other food to Barcelona.

Trying to Avoid Another Little Rock

Robert Kennedy Using Calculated Restraint During Mississippi Crisis

BY JAMES McCARTNEY
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy — his tie askew, his shirtsleeves rolled to his elbows — is trying desperately to exercise calculated restraint in the Mississippi integration crisis.

As he sits behind his desk in his cavernous 5th floor office in the Justice Department, personally directing federal government moves, he is attempting to let government actions speak louder than words.

Those actions, thus far, have been designed to try to say

"We can't back down and we won't back down. We don't want to use troops.

"But if you make us use troops, we will."

That — using troops — is a step neither the attorney general nor President Kennedy wants to take.

And they are clearly prepared to do everything they think is reasonable to stop short of using troops

The last thing they want is another Little Rock.

They are trying to find ways through which Gov. Ross Barnett and other Mississippi officials can relax their resistance to the admission of Negro James Meredith to the University of Mississippi without losing face.

But they can't tell yet whether there is any basis for believing that might happen.

Thus far the attorney general has tried to make his moves deliberately non-inflammatory.

At Naval Base

U.S. marshals assigned to help get Meredith into the university were not stationed in the university town, Oxford, but rather at the Millington Naval Air Station, near Memphis, Tenn., some 60 miles away.

No special group of marshals was assigned in Mississippi at all.

When a third effort to enlist Meredith in the school was made Wednesday the escort group was deliberately kept small — just two marshals and an attorney.

The group was clearly — and obviously — not powerful enough to force its way past state high-

Diefenbaker Party Faces New Threats

Canadian Prime Minister Faces Barrage of Criticism Over New Economic Proposals

OTTAWA (AP)—A new threat to Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker's minority government developed today after three opposition leaders trained a stream of critical fire on his proposed new legislative program.

The conservative government outlined its plans to inject new life into the economy at the opening session of Canada's 25th Parliament Thursday.

Sharply unfavorable reaction came swiftly from the chiefs of the opposition parties.

"A rehash. Most disappointing and inadequate," said Lester B. Pearson, Liberal party leader.

"Confusing verbiage that veils the shortcomings and omissions," said Robert Thompson, Social Credit chief.

Sees Trouble

"If this stands as a definite commitment by this government, we are headed for real trouble," said T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democrats.

Diefenbaker's program, set forth in the traditional speech from the throne emphasized measures aimed at dispelling what Canadian political leaders have called the nation's financial and economic crisis.

Among the stipulated objectives were:

A balanced federal budget. Canada has had five consecutive years of deficit spending. The message said a program of economies in government expenditures will be presented to Parliament.

"Positive constructive measures to strengthen Canada's balance of international payments." For nine years, there has been an imbalance. Last summer, the government borrowed $650 million to bolster foreign exchange reserves.

"A climate in Canada hospitable to foreign investment." The speech pointed out that Canadian development needs imports of capital. The American investment alone is officially estimated at $18 billion.

A national economic development board to review the economy and to "recommend particular projects or measures which it considers would be in the interest of national development."

The speech contained brief references to foreign problems and the European Common Market. It said that because of Communist actions, "Canada's defensive capability must be maintained."

Britain's entry into the common market would present a serious problem for Canadian exports. About half of those going to Britain now receive tariff preferences.

"The government will spare no effort to safeguard the interests of Canada while preserving the unity and strength of the commonwealth," the speech said.

Thompson said, "If this is all the progressive Conservatives have to offer, the House certainly is not going to go along."

Hold 148 Seats

They hold a total of 148 seats in Parliament, as against 116 for Diefenbaker's Conservatives. A majority of 133 would unseat the government, necessitating a new general election.

Pearson has said he would move a vote of no confidence in his opening speech in Parliament Monday.

But whether the two smaller opposition parties would support his motion, with their critical 48 votes was still unclear. Previously, their leaders had said they wanted to wait and see the government's new program. They added that the Canadian people would not welcome another general election barely four months after the last one. Thus, they indicated they would not back Pearson's motion.

After the speech, however, Thompson said the 30 Social Credit members will caucus today. He did not say whether this might mean joining the Liberals on the no confidence vote.

But he did say he will propose a "strong amendment" in the House next week. This could take the form of a motion expressing lack of confidence in the government.

New Democratic party leaders said they would not decide on whether to join the no confidence action until they get more details of the government policy, which will emerge in the debate on the speech opening Monday.

UW-M Teacher To be Censured For 'Politics'

Professor Admits He Circulated Petition in Class

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee official said Thursday night Dr. Arthur W. Schoeller, professor of elementary education, will be censured for political activity during class time.

Schoeller has admitted circulating a petition endorsing the stand taken on medicare by Gov. Gaylord Nelson, the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Schoeller, who said he was wearing a "Nelson button" at the time the paper was distributed during an evening class for graduate students, said the petition was sent him by the Nelson senatorial campaigning headquarters.

Soik Protest

The incident was brought out in a letter by Assemblyman Nile W. Soik (R-Whitefish Bay) to Dr. J. Martin Klotsche, UWM provost. Because Klotsche is in Europe, the letter was handled by his assistant, Dean Joseph Baier. It was given to George W. Denemark, dean of the school for education, for investigation.

Denemark said he had discussed the matter with Schoeller, and said "It is my intention to write Schoeller a letter, which will constitute a censure, advising him that such activities are inappropriate on class time in the university."

The 49-year-old Schoeller, a member of the faculty for 15 years, said nine of the 39 members of the class signed the petition in less than a minute.

"There was no pressure or urging for any of them to sign," according to Schoeller, who said he acted "on the spur of the moment."

Schoeller said university rules forbid sectarian, religious or political teaching and that "I agree with this. This is fine."

He said that in his case no rule was broken. "It is really a question of judgment. If people want to misinterpret this, they could. Probably better judgment would be not to give them an opportunity to raise questions."

Schoeller is president of Local 79 of the American Federation of Teachers and fifth vice president of the Wisconsin Federation of Teachers.

Truck Driver To Return to State Trial

Admitted He Had Put Hand Over Mouth of His Son

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 25-year-old truck driver who said he was tormented by details in his small son's death, has agreed to return to Wisconsin to face homicide charges.

Holland

Paul W. Holland Jr. called Louisville police Tuesday night and saying he wanted to talk to someone gave information he had kept secret since his three-month-old son died nearly two years ago at Burlington, Wis.

At Racine, Wis., Dist. Atty. John Peyton issued a warrant charging Holland with homicide by reckless conduct. The charge, upon conviction, carries a penalty of five years in prison or a $2,500 fine or both.

Will Return

Holland signed Thursday papers clearing the way for his return to Wisconsin. Holland was in the Air Force and his family was living at Burlington at the time of the death of the boy, one of four children.

In a signed statement Holland said he tried to stop the boy's crying by putting his hand over the child's nose and mouth. The boy died at a hospital three days later, on about Oct. 15, 1960.

After an inquest the death was ruled accidental — either caused by a severe brain injury at birth or by a fall. Holland said at the inquest he found the child with a diaper over its head, and after the breathing stopped applied artificial respiration.

He was held here on a technical vagrancy charge under $5,000 bond.

Trouble in Mississippi

Top Federal Marshal Was New York Cop

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — When James Joseph Patrick McShane was a member of the New York City police department (from 1936 to 1957) he could belt the enemy across the chops, call the wagon, and quit for the day.

A rumble is a little more involved today for James Joseph Patrick. He finds himself mixed up with sovereign nations, like Israel and Great Britain, or with semi-sovereign states, like Mississippi.

McShane's work as Chief U.S. Marshal puts him in charge of the hard ones for Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

And in retrospect, McShane's career as a tough cop in Manhattan seems a very relaxed sort of job.

Well Liked

McShane, a well-liked man born [illegible] years ago in New York, is the chief federal officer on the scene in Mississippi. The attorney general and his brother in the White House find their alternatives narrowed in this state to the choice of flattening Gov. Ross Barnett or closing the federal courts in the Fifth Judicial District.

The real crisis in Mississppi still lies ahead for McShane.

It will evolve either when the U.S. government forces the University of Mississippi to accept Negro student James H. Meredith, or seizes Gov. Barnett to carry out a contempt order of the U.S. Court of Appeals at New Orleans.

Begin Today

The action will probably come to a head beginning today. The court has ordered the governor to appear today to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt, following his refusal to permit Meredith to enter the university.

When the crisis does come to a head, McShane will be the lead man in the federal government's flying wedge.

McShane let some of the New York cop come out of his system Thursday when he shoved a little at the line of state cops at the college gate in Oxford, Miss. But the incipient violence ended with the shoving match, in which the state cops held their ground.

Kuehn Will Oppose 'Right to Work' Law; Candidates Set Debate

GOP Nominee, Reynolds to Meet On TV in Milwaukee on Oct. 23

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republican governor candidate Philip Kuehn has told a group of labor officials he would veto any "right-to-work" bill unless labor leaders themselves wanted such a law.

Kuehn, meeting with seven labor leaders in an informal question and answer period in Racine Thursday, also said that if labor opposed a sales tax, then "labor was wrong." He said a sales tax with a credit refund would be fairer to those earning small wages than an increased income tax.

While Kuehn was answering labor's questions and his Democratic opponent, John Reynolds, was taking up the farm question at Eau Claire, their representatives settled on a date for their first, and possibly only, television debate.

Laurence Donovan, president of the Milwaukee Public Affairs Forum, which will sponsor the date over the Milwaukee facilities of WTMJ, WTMJ-FM and WTMJ-TV, said it would be held Oct. 22.

The candidates will discuss state fiscal and tax policy, each making an opening and closing statement and answering questions from a panel of newsmen. Charles Goldberg, former president of the Wisconsin Bar Association and moderator of the 1960 Kuehn debate with Gov. Gaylord Nelson, will moderate the one-hour program.

Farm Program

Reynolds outlined his farm program in a position paper, saying a flexible supply control program to adjust agricultural production to demand was needed to give the farmer a fair level of prices.

He also renewed his attack on he sales tax, telling a Farmer Union meeting at Ladysmith Thursday night that such a levy would mean a double hardship with the tax applying to family purchases and those a farmer must make merely to stay in business."

It was announced in Madison Thursday that Wilbur Renk, defeated in the bitter Republican gubernatorial primary, would be the keynote speaker at a conference of GOP county leaders in Madison Tuesday. The announcement was made by Claude Jasper, the state GOP chairman, who said the conference will coincide with the Republican statutory platform convention.

Nelson, who is bidding against incumbent Republican Alexander Wiley for the U.S. Senate, spoke at an Ettrick dinner arranged to raise campaign funds.

Nelson said Wiley voted on Aug. 21 for a Senate amendment which its author, Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, "admitted would have abolished all federal milk marketing orders and the minimum milk prices guaranteed by the orders."

Hurt Market

"Elimination of milk marketing order," Nelson said, "would destroy not only minimum price guarantees to dairy farmers, but also the ability of processors to market milk in an orderly fashion."

In Chippewa Falls today, Nelson urged expansion of federally-operated school milk programs and the national food stamp program.

"These extended programs will greatly increase milk consumption, and at very little additional cost," Nelson said. "This is certainly a better solution than either strict government production controls or the abolition of farm price supports."

Milk Withholding Possible, National Farmers Predict

CORNING, Iowa (AP)—The National Farmers Organization continued its market boycott on livestock and grain today with a decision expected next week on whether to stop deliveries of milk.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley said the board of directors will decide next Thursday whether milk will be added to the holding action.

"We will spend next week explaining our program to all dairy handlers and processors and give them a chance to sign our contracts," Staley said.

Market Milk

Although NFO members have been free to market their milk during the first four weeks of withholding other agricultural products, the organization has set a price goal on that dairy product. It seeks $6.05 a hundredweight on grade A milk, or roughly $2 above the current mark.

At Lexington, Mo., charges were filed against two NFO men accused of placing sugar in the gasoline tank of a truck in which a Missouri trucker hauled a load of stock to the Kansas City stockyards Sept. 22.

Report Pickets

NFO pickets were reported Thursday at packing plants at Davenport and Waterloo and at the Kansas City livestock exchange.

Only normal fluctuations were registered in Thursday's livestock supplies. On the 12 major markets cattle receipts were 24,000 head as against 24,300 a week ago while hog receipts were 53,000 compared with 58,200 last week.

Hog prices were steady to weak in the Iowa and southern Minnesota market with receipts estimated at 50,000 head, a drop of 6,000 from last week.

Gov. Barnett Invites Federal Rule

The drama being enacted in Mississippi over the application of a Negro for admission to the University of Mississippi emphasizes the tragic flaws in the thinking of many southern officials By their last-ditch opposition to desegregation they strengthen the federal government s influence and control

According to reports Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi is a sincere believer in the theory that an end to segregation means the mongrelization of the white race The governor is quite right in believing that more casual mixing of the races is bound to result in more intermarriage But the most stringent apartheid measures do not prevent this even if its prevention were defensible The news that a Negro from segregated Alabama had actually spent two years attending the University of Mississippi under the Navy V-12 program because he passed for white indicates the failure of legal means to keep the races apart

It is inevitable now that Negroes will be admitted to the University of Mississippi just as it is inevitable that voting restrictions will dwindle away The federal government particularly the Justice Department has changed from its former policy of moving into the controversies only in cases of violence The federal government is the plaintiff in a suit to withhold federal aid for school construction in impacted areas of military bases if there is segregation There are more than thirty cases pending which charge violations of the right to vote The present Meredith case in Mississippi is obviously being waged according to instructions from Washington Attorney General Robert Kennedy has made it clear in personal telephone calls to Governor Barnett exactly what course he is taking to force the eventual admission of Meredith.

Government contractors in the south are being pressured to assure equal employment opportunities for Negroes and the pressure is coming from the Justice Department

Southerners who face the Negro problem have some sympathy in the north because there are certainly difficulties heightened by the long years of discrimination in employment and education No one who studies the percentage of Negroes in the south tries to shrug off the problems ahead

But the southern die hards who shout about states' rights in their struggle to maintain segregation are fooling only themselves Such local governmental rights can be maintained only if authorities observe the limitations of their power in the Bill of Rights and the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution By trying to ignore these restrictions they have invited the federal government to exercise its authority And once a people of any color or creed finds out that their individual rights are guaranteed only in Washington they will not hesitate to turn there more and more

A New Wall

Honor System at Lawrence

The new honors program instituted at Lawrence College this fall is most of all a challenge to the students

There is something almost undignified about a professor being required to monitor his classes to prevent cribbing Unfortunately there has been a high incidence of cheating at the college level and even at the post college level revealed in the last few years in the United States The causes are mixed There may be too much emphasis upon grades either at home or school too much insecurity among students so that they feel the need of the ego boost from a high grade a failure to face their own limitations or inaccurate guidance systems that place mediocre students in colleges that are too tough for them

Ideally college students shouldn t need marks at all except that they do serve to indicate to the student how well or how poorly he is measuring up to the average The brilliant and the hard working deserve to be singled out for special honors

But progress in college or university particularly after the first two years must be largely an independent matter The professor provides inspiration instruction and the aim of the course or program But it is the ability interest concentration and ambition of the student which determines what he receives from his college experience Sometimes neither the student nor college authorities really know what has been accomplished until years later

At Lawrence this year each student signs a pledge that he will neither give or receive aid during examinations nor will he attempt to pass off another s work as his own Written work will be signed pledge no unauthorized aid and exams will be unsupervised

It can be expected that there will be breaches of the code There are cheats in every facet of life But the Lawrence honor system should have the effect of emphasizing that education is first of all the individual s responsibility The honest the hard workers the brilliant as well as the dishonest and the goof offs will in the long run have their reward no matter who is or is not aware of it

How Reds Spread the Word

The Netherlands officials have been critical of the Western position in what virtually amounts to the turning over of West New Guinea to Indonesia It is almost appeasement to Communism according to some Dutch sources But the same country is having problems of its own in how to combine opposition to Communism with freedom of travel

In recent months Curacao capital of the Netherlands Antilles in the Caribbean has become a major center of transportation between Cuba and other countries Technicians and tourists from various Soviet bloc nations pass through Willemstad on their way to Havana So too do an ever increasing number of Latin Americans particularly from Chile, Argentina and Peru

It is not that the Dutch are particularly hospitable to Communists But KLM Royal Dutch Airlines has bases in most Latin American countries and makes flights to Havana and areas in Europe

Officials in Willemstad have become sufficiently alarmed over the traffic to start taking count The figures have not been made public but are sent to the Netherland Colonial Office in Amsterdam and from there they go to NATO headquarters and departments

The Dutch do not want to restrict passengers on KLM for both economic and political reasons But they are not very happy with the present arrangements Actually as long as count is being taken the airline service may serve as an able watching station for the non Communist countries including some of the regimes in Latin America It is suspected that many of the Latin Americans go on to further indoctrination in Moscow if they prove especially bright and aspiring And from there they wander back to their own countries to spread the word

Black Tie or Stripe?

The rest of the world may be in a state of anxiety over whether communism democracy or neutralism is the best way to justice and peace but there is no confusion among the editors of the British trade journal Tailor and Cutter The only major statesman today who knows how to dress the part is the acting Secretary General of the United Nations U Thant of Burma according to the magazine

The other world leaders simply don t measure up in the cut of their coats trousers or skirts as the style may be President de Gaulle is most un-French in his unelegance despite his years of military training Premier Macmillan is almost a reactionary who ought to remember that there are other ties than Anglo-American and old schools Khrushchev is hopelessly 'saggy and baggy' President Kennedy, once he turned away from British made suits when he was elected shows that his 'sartorial philosophy' is strictly local boy and isolationist

Tailor and Cutter may really be concerned about the trend away from the London mode of dress and style In fact this simply may be another reaction to the American Revolution if a bit late Reports from the United Nations indicate that foreigners tend to wear their native costumes for some time after becoming delegates but gradually adopt informal American styles

The adaptations are certainly not Fleet Street Some delegates continue to wear their native skirts and turbans combined with grey flannel jackets Others design their own outfits and do not seem to be using the mode established by Tailor and Cutter

U Thant may indeed dress correctly in dark suits and narrow lapels But somehow this doesn t seem the equivalent of a revolt —even of a sartorial nature We can become alarmed about world politics and the state of the world if UN delegates begin looking as saggy and baggy as Khrushchev — if that is at all possible

Believes Religion Should Be Taught in Public Schools

Editor Post Crescent

Father Feeney has earned my respect and admiration for putting forth his views on the subject of religious education I [illegible] agree with Father Feeney not in principle but in practice [illegible] would be to [illegible] a strengthening of religious ideals in our lives

Father Feeney [illegible] children can be [illegible] influenced and directed It is true that they can be so influenced and directed but can they as such a young age examine and come to know for themselves the religious values by which they are to lead the remainder of their lives Such children so influenced and directed may have only a shallow understanding of their faith an understanding which will not hold up as the [illegible] to adulthood As way of example let us take the experience of the United States [illegible] when the [illegible] collision between [illegible] and [illegible] was [illegible] and caused much concern among United States military leaders After a careful examination of the facts it was determined that one of the major reasons for this high rate of collaboration was a lack of understanding of simple democratic principles We all know something about our democracy and to us have even memorized parts of the constitution but the sad [illegible] is that [illegible] Korea [illegible] too few of us have a deep understanding of what our democracy means

[illegible] the [illegible] understanding of democracy or religious principles come about as a result of the free and unbiased presentation of various ideas and points of view We can not hope to develop [illegible] religious ideals unless we [illegible] the value of the [illegible] fellow s point of view By the very nature of the religious private school the other point of view cannot be fairly presented and as a result the interaction of opposing ideas is absent

For any group of taxpayers to decide for themselves where their educational tax dollar is to be spent would leave open the door to as many and varied numbers of schools as we have people in our nation The Nazis Communists and John Birchers all are [illegible] to be staunch supporters of America and I m sure would preach their own pattern [illegible] brand of Americanism Most tragic of all would be the withdrawal by bits and parts of the tax support of the public school system in this country a school system which although not perfect [illegible] and will continue to make possible the education of [illegible] as well as the [illegible] I m [illegible] to be able to agree with Father Feeney and say that we do need more [illegible] education I believe however that this education should be provided by our [illegible] those [illegible] by Father Feeney In [illegible] of teaching only a portion of the student population with religious education teach it to the student population Why burden the religious leaders of this country with teaching reading writing and arithmetic? Although religious schools in this country may not be in danger of folding they are none the less in trouble A shortage of teachers and space confronts them and grows worse every year Teach religion but teach it in the public schools Give space in the public schools for priests ministers and rabbis to present their religious faith Let them teach in an atmosphere of inquiry and where there can be an honest interaction of ideas and the resulting strengthening of our religious principles Let the religious leaders teach religion and not science and mathematics for it is not religion and philosophy which has outpaced our technological age but our technological age which seems to be leaving religion and philosophy behind

Congressmen Have a Lingo Of Their Own

BY ROBERT S BOYD
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Congressmen like sportswriters have a lingo all their own

There s even a special vocabulary for this end of session season when Congress is voting the money to run the government for another year

During the appropriations process most verbs flying about Capitol Hill have sharp edges like cut carve slice prune whittle trim lop off chop skin pare and shave

Occasionally another concept will be found [illegible] according to Richard Fenno Jr a University of Rochester political scientist who made a collection of budget cutting words

In the view of most congressmen Fenno says government budgets are filled with fat padding cushions [illegible] water [illegible] and soft spot

But [illegible] request should be cut to the bone Economists should [illegible] Federal agencies should be put on a fat boy s diet

The [illegible] to do it [illegible] the knife [illegible] shears [illegible]

And on this piece of general wisdom Fenno says most congressmen agree You can always get a little more fat out of a piece of pork if you fix it a little longer

State Withholding of Income Taxes Never Can be Repealed Now

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Occasionally the question is asked is there any chance for repeal of the state law requiring employers to withhold from salaries and wages for the state income taxes of their employes?

Wyngaard

The answer is that there is scarcely any chance of returning to the once a year assessment and payment method that survived and was satisfactory for the first half century of the state s income tax experience from 1911 to 1961

It might be supposed that if there is a Republican administration of state affairs in the state during the next two years, opponents would get a sympathetic hearing for a plan for repeal of the paycheck deduction law since leading Republican legislators fought the proposal a year ago and Philip Kuehn the Republican nominee for governor has consistently said he is opposed to it in principle

But the system won t be repealed as Kuehn and other opponents say with complete candor because the price to the taxpayer would be too great

THE FORGIVENESS

To avoid the double taxation charge of the opponents a year ago the Democratic administration was forced to concede a substantial forgiveness of 1961 taxes owing in return for the enactment of withholding starting with 1962 obligations

That was financially possible because through withholding the state was advancing tax collections by a year Instead of collecting months after the year in which the taxable earnings were received by individuals it started collecting tax money on a monthly basis from those regularly employed and on a quarterly basis from those self employed

The forgiveness amounted to about two thirds of each individual s 1961 taxes owing or up to $100 000 000 for the state as a whole

To abandon the system now therefore would mean that the state would be required to make up that forgiveness which could only be achieved through a heavy temporary boost in the tax rates which would again raise the cry of double taxation and would be impossible to achieve politically

How the withholding system is working out remains to be demonstrated While the authors of the act privately regarded the goal as important because they foresaw the need for income tax increases that would otherwise be too painful for the public to accept, they always made the claim also that it would be a more effective system of collection and catch thousands of tax cheats and delinquents There will be some careful examination of the results during the next couple of years to check those claims

OTHERWISE

In other respects the new payroll deduction act has apparently been acceptable Employers probably don t like the additional accounting obligation — unlike the sales tax collectors in retail business they were not offered reimbursement for their collection costs — but they have not made any organized public complaints

Employes on the whole apparently are content with the system also and will probably be even more pleased next spring when most of them won t have the job of raising money to pay taxes in a single payment

The opposition to withholding was largely based on a principle — a principle that this device was intended to hide the effect of income taxation That the objection was probably a valid one is shown by the experience thus far The same legislature that enacted the withholding law also boosted the income tax rates in an across the board equal rate revision which had the effect of boosting the liability of lower and middle income wage earners in a greater degree than ever before in the history of the income tax in Wisconsin

Yet it was done with scarcely a murmur from those most numerous taxpayers in the general population

Indeed there is good reason to believe that the average wage and salary earner of the state is not yet aware of the fact that he is paying a considerably fatter income tax bill than ever before in contrast to the new sales tax levy which has fueled a lively public discussion for months

Other Views on Proclamation

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct 9 1862

The Cambridge Intelligencer one of the most widely circulated of the local journals in Maryland published in the County of Dorchester gives hearty approval to the President s Proclamation The editor takes the following view on the subject

The true glory of the war is not that it liberates the blacks but the white men of the South They already are beginning to shout for joy We look with pride and joy to the good time coming when American free men shall be free indeed as well as in name

* * *

What Parson Brownlow thinks — Regarding Mr Lincoln s Proclamation I will say that if he means to free the slaves of rebels in arms and pay loyal men for them I am for it out and out I think the Proclamation well timed and fortunate at this moment It it had been made a month or six weeks later the rebels would have made a proposition themselves to England to take their Negroes and colonize them and I thank God that Old Abe has taken the starch out of them

* * *

The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce makes this significant statement Facts have come to my knowledge which induce me to believe that the President will yet be fully vindicated for issuing his much talked of proclamation I do not believe what I did believe that he was drawn from his straightforward course by the radicals There were reasons for his actions and all things connected with that great movement are not what they seem

". . . And 49 cents for a package of cookies your son ate while you were pinching the products in the fruit department, Mrs. Figby!"

Late in the morning he discussed the situation with his brother the President, at the White House.

Now and then the attorney general, in shirt sleeves and collar unbuttoned, would stride across the hall to the office of Edwin O Guthman, chief of the Justice Department s information office

When waylaid by newsmen, Kennedy shrugged off questions But Guthman told reporters that an announcement was coming soon What it would be he didn't say.

Questions Shunted

At a briefing after lunch Guthman turned aside questions about whether the government was considering sending troops to Oxford

Suddenly the announcement came from the South Meredith had left Memphis and was traveling toward Oxford in a convoy of about 25 federal marshals to make a fourth attempt to enter Ole Miss

At the campus an army of 500 state highway patrolmen sheriffs and other law officials took up guard posts and waited

One of Meredith s attorneys Jack Greenberg announced in New Orleans 'We talked to the Justice Department and they said they felt they had an adequate force to get him in

The federal government and the state of Mississippi were on a collision course

At 7 o'clock, Robert Kennedy returned to the Justice Department wearing a fresh shirt but not saying where he had been

Newsmen pressed Guthman Had the attorney general slipped off to have a word with the President before the chief executive flew off to Wheeling W Va for a political speech? Guthman said definitely no

About 47 minutes later the showdown was off—Meredith and his guard of marshals had been called back lest there be 'major violence and bloodshed ' said the attorney general But he added bluntly 'Mr Meredith will be registered '

Minutes later it was reported then confirmed that one of the Army s top generals—Maj Gen Creighton Abrams Jr director of operations for the Army s deputy chief of staff for operations—had slipped into Kennedy s office and conferred for about 40 minutes with the attorney general

If Needed

Informed sources indicated they discussed arrangements for sending troops into Mississippi if it should be decided they are needed

The department also announced that several hundred more marshals were being hurried to Memphis to be near the scene

As the long day drew toward an end President Kennedy got word at the political rally in Wheeling that his brother wanted to speak to him

The President went into a communications trailer behind the speaker s platform and talked on a direct line with the attorney general about the government s next move

Within a few hours an Army unit was reported on the move In the early hours today the Defense Department acknowledged that an Army convoy rolling through Tennessee carried 110 Army Engineers headed for Memphis

Actor-Producer Dick Powell and his wife, actress June Allyson, talked to newsmen in their home Thursday as he disclosed that he is under treatment for cancer. Powell, 57, was cheerful and highly optimistic as he discussed his condition. (AP Wirephoto)

State Police Leave Mississippi Campus

Oxford, either, and all entrances to the wooded Ole Miss campus stood free of blockades by state officers Only six or seven police cars had been seen on campus by midmorning

Army and Justice Department spokesmen said the 110 man Engineer unit would provide supplies meals administrative services and possibly arrange living quarters for the marshals

An Army spokesman emphasized that the Engineers will have absolutely nothing to do with affairs in Mississippi They will remain at Memphis 50 miles north of this college town

49 Truck Convoy

The Engineers—first federal troops to be ordered to any kind of duty in connection with the defiance of court orders by Mississippi s top officials—arrived at the Memphis Naval Air Station at 3 a m after a 200 mile overnight trip from Ft Campbell Ky

Their 49 truck convoy included tractor trailers carrying heavy equipment tractor drawn vans jeeps and other vehicles

'They have with them the capacity to set up a tent city to furnish bedding cooking and that type of service for the marshals" said Lt Col T A Price deputy commander of operations at Ft Campbell

Price said the members of the 70th Engineer Battalion were armed because their maneuver was a mobility exercise

Thursday the Justice Department called off a fourth attempt to get Meredith admitted Both sides said the action probably averted violence and bloodshed

Then the government began enlarging its force of marshals for further action with Washington announcing that several hundred from around the nation were being sent to Memphis and that the Army Engineers also were being dispatched there

Proclamation

Use of federal troops to override state authorities would require a proclamation from President Kennedy

Atty Gen Robert F Kennedy dramatically halted Meredith s fourth attempt to become the first Negro knowingly admitted to the university saying he feared "major violence and bloodshed for the citizens of Mississippi" would result if U S marshals and Meredith appeared on the campus

Lt Gov Paul B Johnson of Mississippi agreed An Atlanta television station WSB TV, quoted Johnson as saying in an interview Thursday night that if the state troopers hadn t been at Ole Miss that Negro wouldn t have lasted as long as it takes to aim a shotgun '

Johnson estimated a crowd of 5 000 to 8 000 were gathered at the university in anticipation of another appearance by Meredith and told WSB TV 'You couldn t have turned them back with a regiment of men A lot of lives were saved by their (federal marshals) not coming"

Party Halted

Kennedy halted Meredith s party, late Thursday as the Korean War veteran was driving here with federal marshals

A helmeted and club carrying army of Mississippi peace officers waited at Ole Miss as Kennedy conferred in Washington with an Army general

'Meredith s lawyers in New Orleans said they had advised him to make no further efforts to enter the campus until after the insurrection there has been put down by the executive branch of the government"

Democrat Snaps At GOP Critics Of Cuban Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic Leader Carl Albert has snapped back at Republican critics of the administration's handling of the Cuban problem.

"Political, self-serving desperation," was the Oklahoman's description Thursday of the GOP attack

Albert stormed to a microphone visibly angry, after Rep William C. Cramer, R-Fla, said Democrats had failed to back up their strong words with action when they rejected Wednesday a Republican amendment to a Cuban resolution

The resolution, passed by both the House and Senate, was intended as a show of unity behind whatever steps Kennedy might take, including the use of force, to prevent Cuba from becoming a military threat in the hemisphere.

FOUR ROSES DISTILLERS COMPANY, N.Y.C. • BLENDED WHISKEY 86 PROOF • 65% GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS

A penny can make your drink taste better.

No, don t add it to the drink

Add it to the price Spend a penny more per drink for your whiskey.

And get in return, a whiskey made from grains graded #1 and #2 (The best there are, says the government)

A whiskey that starts out with more good character to its flavor

And stays that way Because it's blended with choice grain neutral spirits in a special, costlier way—to keep that good character alive in your drinks.

A whiskey known, in two well known words, as Four Roses

Ice can't melt away its authority. Mix can't mix it away. (Prove it, for example, in your next whiskey sour.)

These being the facts, the surprise is not that Four Roses costs more. But that it costs so little more.

A better drink, that is.

Thursday a larger group of marshals — about 25 — started out on a trip with Meredith to make a fourth attempt at enrolling him and then turned back with the announcement that the force might not be big enough for the job

400 Local Police

The Justice Department had many reports about the size of the crowd on the campus — perhaps some 400 sheriffs and local police — well before the 25 or so marshals started out on their trip

Thus the maneuver had the appearance of a gesture to illustrate that the Justice Department wants to avoid bloodshed and the use of force if at all possible

And it also provided clear cut provocation for the ordering of several hundred additional marshals ' into the Memphis area

The basic moves being followed were planned in detail last week after thorough discussions within the Justice Department of legal problems involved in the Mississippi situation

The plan, though not officially announced, apparently was to gradually increase the amount of

RED FEATHER AGENCIES SERVE APPLETON

The Valley Council Scout Executive, Boy Scouts of America, Tells a True Story

The past month has emphasized that Appleton is not immune from the delinquency and vandalism too common in the larger cities of America. That is why a Red Feather Agency such as the Boy Scouts of America performs such a vital service to the community. This true story, told by the Valley Council Scout Executive, is but one of many incidents that demonstrate the importance to Appleton of the Boy Scouts.

"When he came to my office early on a Monday morning, he identified himself as the father of a Boy Scout . . . a Scout whose troop met weekly in one of Appleton's downtown churches as there was no troop in the area near his home. It seemed that several boys in his neighborhood had gotten themselves into trouble . . . stolen car trouble . . . the previous night. But, his son had not been involved and maybe the reason was because his son was spending the weekend with his Boy Scout troop at Gardner Dam Camp. But what of the other boys? They weren't Scouts because there was no nearby troop. As a result, activity was begun and soon a troop was organized at a neighborhood public school with the help of the professional Scout staff. An answer to a community need . . . The Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America is one of Appleton's ten Red Feather Agencies. Help this fine organization through your Red Feather donation.

Middle East Intrigue Seen In Missile Sales to Israel

U. S. Acted to Restore Balance Of Power With Arabian States

BY MILT FREUDENHEIM
Chicago Daily News Service

UNITED NATIONS — Behind the surprise announcement that the United States will supply Israel with Hawk antiaircraft missiles a web of Middle Eastern intrigue is visible here

Not only the balance of military power but the latest hopeful moves toward peace in the region are affected

The overriding United States motive in reversing a 7 year old policy of withholding major arms from both Israel and the Arabs was a military one

Early this year, Washington became convinced that Soviet-supplied jet bombers in Syria and the United Arab Republic, and Soviet missiles in UAR and Iraq had put Israel at a military disadvantage

Since France Israel's major source of arms in recent years does not make its own missiles, the United States decided to 'restore the balance'

Two Factors

However two other important non-military factors are receiving considerable corridor comment by diplomats here

1 Domestic U S politics The announcement of missile aid comes just before the Jewish New Year Friday night, and in time to impress favorably voters in several key states on election day less than six weeks from now

2 Israel-Arab politics The announcement comes just as Israel and the Arab governments are studying proposals for a compromise solution of the festering problem of 1 000 000 Palestine Arab refugees encamped near Israel s borders

Joseph E Johnson an American acting as special representative of the U N conciliation commission for Palestine (United States Turkey France) has been working for over a year with the concerned governments in search of a formula

The announcement that Israel is getting missles could be fatal to that effort Some high Arab officials here are careful to restrain their comments on this

However Ahmed Shukairy Saudi Arabian minister of state commented flatly with this measure (the missile deal) the road is blocked before Mr Johnson'

Harsh Words

Jordan foreign minister Dr Hazem Nusibeh commented 'We are extremely disturbed We think this hardly will contribute to the solution of the Palestine problem It is bound to aggravate the situation For our people particularly the refugees this is a challenge to their whole existence'

Iraqui and UAR diplomats here also had harsh words for the U S-Israel missile deal The critical chorus began to echo through the newspapers of Arab capitals

Israel s position in the intrigue surrounding the missile deal also is interesting Israel foreign minister Golda Meir assured Secretary of State Dean Rusk Wednesday that her country will study seriously and receptively any proposals by Johnson

This is a far more positive attitude toward his efforts than that expressed in the corridors here by other sources well informed on Israeli government thinking

But if as now appears likely Arabs seize on the new U S Israel missile deal as a pretext for rejecting any compromise proposals on the important and difficult refugee question Israel may be spared the unpleasant chore of slapping down Johnson s United States backed suggestions

New Ruling Passed On Worthless Checks

DA Places 5-Day Limit Between Notice And Arrest for Insufficient Funds

Restitution or a promise of payment no longer will keep the worthless check passer out of court Outagamie County Dist Atty Nick F Schaefer said this week

Schaefer issued 14 warrants for the arrest of persons passing checks in the Appleton area without sufficient funds The individuals will be arraigned in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 as soon as they are arrested

To strengthen the prosecution of worthless checks Schaefer streamlined steps normally followed in bad check cases The district attorney has placed a time limit of five days between notification of a worthless check and possible arrest

Time Lag

Previously Schaefer said a considerable time lag existed between the time the passer was notified he had insufficient funds and was served a warrant

In the past the district attorney said if an offer of restitution was made the charge was dropped Schaefer said the practice did not act as a deterrent to the passer

Schaefer said passing worthless checks has become one of the most common criminal violations Last year 226 complaints were received in his office pertaining to worthless checks

Ignored Request

In 1961 57 cases were processed through court because the offenders ignored or refused to acknowledge the district attorney s request to make restitution

The penalty for cashing worthless checks in Wisconsin provides a fine of not more than $1 000 or imprisonment of not more than one year or both

Merchants should use extreme caution before cashing a check for strangers Schaefer advised merchants to require adequate identification Only a few authorized persons in an organization should be responsible for approving or cashing checks he said

Checks also should be endorsed by the passer at the time they are cashed Schaefer said

This is the total-car warranty

Ford Motor Company warrants to its dealers, and its dealers in turn warrant to owners, as follows that for 24 months or for 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will be made by tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance services, routine replacement of parts, such as filters, spark plugs, ignition points, wiper blades and brake or clutch linings, and normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items The benefits of the warranty are available to the original purchaser and to subsequent owners of the vehicle during the time and mileage limits prescribed in the warranty.

Here is what it means to you

The new 1963 Ford-built cars and trucks are quality-engineered and manufactured to serve you better and last longer than ever before. The proof is in the warranty . . . proof of quality unheard of a few years ago

In fact, it was only two years ago that Ford Motor Company announced the 12-month, 12,000-mile passenger car warranty which became the industry standard as other manufacturers followed Ford s lead. At the same time, Lincoln Continental became the only American-built car warranted for two full years or 24,000 miles, whichever came first. Now, this warranty applies to all Ford-built cars, regardless of price. Why is this possible?

Actually, the new warranty is a natural outgrowth of the engineering leadership that has resulted in twice a-year (or every 6,000-mile) passenger car maintenance. It goes hand-in glove with such Ford-pioneered service savers as the elimination of the 1,000-mile inspection . . 30,000- to 36,000-mile intervals between major lubrications, 6,000-mile intervals between oil changes and minor lubrications, self-adjusting brakes, aluminized mufflers, and longer-life electrical systems.

These features that save you time and money as you drive are a direct reflection of the total quality achievements of Ford Motor Company.

Pair of Ham Radio Friends Help Charlie Out of 'Turtle' Trouble

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

This is a kind of now-it-can-be-told story. Although the course of world history will not be deviated by the recounting of it nor by the fact that it happened, I nevertheless am pleased by it. Its elements contain a superficial side of "emergency," the fact that people will do a very great deal to aid a friend, and the unusual manner in which the assistance developed. It happened like this:

House

Very early in the morning on the day I was to depart for Stevens Point, I was driving along a road near a swamp. When I saw what appeared to be animal, I stopped the car and backed up. The "animal" was a large snapping turtle which weighed a full 20 pounds.

Thinking fondly of how good turtle soup can taste, I picked up the turtle and put it in the trunk of my car. I intended to place it in a window well and keep it alive and healthy until my return.

But I forgot. I was busy with my pack and the preparation of the gear I was to take along and so the turtle remained in the trunk of the car while I hurried off to Stevens Point.

By the time I reached Stevens Point, I remembered the turtle.

I had visions of Mrs. House opening the trunk and fainting dead away at the sight of the big prisoner. And worse, I feared she might decide to clean out some of the many things a fellow like me puts in his car trunk.

Phoned Home

I feared she might put her hands in the debris I keep there and suffer the loss of a finger. The turtle was big, strong and aggressive.

From Stevens Point I telephoned home. Nobody answered. Again and again I tried to telephone, but obviously everyone was out of the house.

Then, with only a few minutes left before my departure time, I talked to a friend in Stevens Point — Clarence Clancy) Brooks, who is a ham radio operator.

Clancy got busy.

From his station at Stevens Point, he made efforts to call another friend, Bill Juhre, the artist, who lives on Scray's Hill outside of DePere.

Calls for Juhre

"This," said Clancy into his microphone, "is W9HQJ at Stevens Point calling W9IMQ. W9HQJ calling W9IMQ. Come in, W9IMQ. . . ."

Off at DePere, Juhre — also a ham radio operator — was not on the air. But Clancy used his call letters again and again and, at last, Bill Juhre's voice came in:

"This is W9IMQ, W9IMQ. W9IMQ, W9 India, Mary Quebec calling from Scray's Hill. Go ahead, W9HQJ."

Problem Relayed

Now Clancy told Bill that I was at his side in Stevens Point and that an emergency existed.

"Now," he said, "I'll turn it over to Charlie for details."

I told my friend, the artist, my problem.

In the trunk of my car, there's a fierce snapping turtle weighing about 20 pounds. I'm afraid Genieve will put her hand in there and lose part of her finger. I've tried without success to reach her be telephone but apparently nobody is home."

I asked Bill if he would call some of our friends to see if he could run down hor whereabouts. I asked him to please come back on the air to let me know if he had reached her and instructed her to have one of my sons remove the turtle. I told him Clancy and I would stand by for his return on the air.

Message Delivered

"In due time Bill was back on the air.

"I found Genieve and telephoned her. I told her that there was a big snapping turtle in the trunk of the car. I told her to have one of the children remove it and save it for the time when you come home. . .This is W9IMQ, W9IMQ, W9IMQ. Go ahead, Charlie."

I thanked Bill for his good detecting job and for the kindness in helping me to inform Mrs. House.

Then I asked "What did she say?"

Clancy took the microphone and called, "This is W9HQJ, W9HQJ. W9HQJ, W9HQJ. Come in W9IMQ . . ."

'Oh, That Man'

Bill's voice again was heard on the air:

"This is W9IMQ, W9IMQ. W9IMQ . . . she said she would have one of the children remove the turtle from the trunk and put it safely away.

"She also said, 'Oh, that man!'"

Leaf Loader At Kaukauna to Begin Operating

KAUKAUNA — The leaf loader purchased by the city will go into operation within a few weeks or as soon as warranted by leaf accumulations, according to Robert Natrop, city engineer.

An attempt will be made to pick up leaves in various districts on the same day that garbage and rubbish collections are made. Thus residents are requested to rake leaves on piles and place them on the terrace where the vacuum type machine will pick up the material.

The leaves will be blown into a large truck to be hauled away. Leaves are not to be raked onto roadways or in gutters as a sudden rain could wash leaves into catch basins, thus flooding streets, noted the engineer.

When the machine is put into operation, there will no longer be a need for fall fires which are a source of annoyance to many residents, he continued. Persons are asked not to have large rocks, cans or other items mixed in the piles of leaves as these items could damage machinery.

Dave Beck Hurts Ankle During Trip To Face New Trial

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Dave Beck Sr., former Teamsters Union president, started for New York City for trial on charges of violating the Taft-Hartley Act, but his trek was tripped up Wednesday.

He apparently was feeling fit when he left McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary near Tacoma, but by the time he was booked in county jail here he was limping. Beck said he sprained an ankle when he slipped on stairs at the prison.

As he left McNeil, where he has served three months of a five-year sentence for tax fraud, the 68-year-old Beck said he never felt better. "I'm getting lots of exercise and a little bit of rest," he said.

Curtains for Big Windows

Many new ideas for curtaining big windows cover them to solve problems of room arrangement. When the better view through a picture window is from the outside looking in, rather than from the inside looking out, the time comes when furniture placement has catered to the window too long.

With curtaining designed as in the sketches for picture-less windows, furniture needn't back away from the glass and make do with what unbroken space there is on the other walls. The fourth wall of the room is returned for useful purposes, and arrangement eases to increase seating space and convenience, and often to make the room seem more spacious as well.

The curtaining design at upper left divides the glass with wood construction fitted within the window framing. Center posts hold curtain rods near the floor and higher, and curtains cut to points above and below stretch between them.

In the lower sketch, two posts are used for rod supports for the plain colored curtains. Longer curtains, matching the fabric on the newly placed sofa, are narrow and set to stay in place as they are. The pair nearer the center of the window is actually two pairs, one pair showing pattern to the room, and the other to the outdoors. The posts are concealed between the opposite-facing pairs, and all the long curtains are weighted at the bottom to secure them in straight-hanging position.

For all three window designs, curtains are set high enough to shield anyone in the room in standing as well as sitting position. At upper right, the curtaining makes possible the move of a sizeable dining table and chairs to a space saving location. Draw curtains are shown pulled back on the wall to bare upper glass to light, but strips of fluorescent light above them also produces daylight effect at night when they are closed.

Your Problems

Virtue vs. Sickness Remains Issue Over Man's Behavior

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I think you do more harm than good. I am sick and tired of your repeated statements that there is something wrong with young men in their late teens and early twenties if they don't try to maul and kiss every girl they go out with.

Landers

You told one young man who was 21 years old to seek professional help. In my opinion he deserves three cheers and a pat on the back. And his dear mother deserves a medal for rearing such a wholesome lad.

The trouble with young people today is they are sex-crazy. They have no respect for ideals which were once held sacred. If all the young men in this country were like that 21-year-old who wrote to you, Ann Landers, we could close every home for unwed mothers, and wouldn't that be grand?—Negative Vote

Dear Negative: If all the boys in this country were like the young man who wrote to me we could close everything because there wouldn't be any people.

The poor fellow said he'd been going with a young woman for several months and wanted very much to kiss her but he was paralyzed with fear. For years his mother had warned him against "defiling" a girl and spoiling her good name.

I think it's pretty sad when a fellow who is old enough to vote is afraid to kiss a girl for fear of marking her for life. Such a young man is not virtuous—he's sick.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have two children, aged 8 and 9. They receive an allowance of 25 cents a week. My husband thinks they should buy everything they need with their allowance, except clothing.

Recently we bought them bikes. Now he says they must save $2 out of their allowance to buy their own licenses. They were even told to start saving for new tires which they may need later on. One bike needs a new handle-grip right now so—"save for that."

Don't get me wrong. I think it is wonderful for children to learn the value of saving but it seems my husband expects an awful lot out of an allowance of 25 cents a week. Our youngsters don't even have a nickel to buy a bottle of pop or the price of a movie ticket on Saturday.

Incidentally, if my husband had taught himself how to save we'd be in a lot better shape today. Thank you.—Davenport, Ia.

DEAR DAVENPORT: I agree it's a fine idea to teach children to save (and it seems to be something of a lost art today) but your husband is expecting too much mileage out of two-bits a week.

If your children must buy everything they need except clothing, their allowance should be doubled at least.

DEAR ANN: My brother tells me things he'd never tell our parents. He's a good kid but sometimes I must admit he's a little wild.

Several days ago when the folks were out of town for the weekend my brother had a gang of kids over. There was some drinking and general whoop-de-do. The next day we cleaned up the house together and when Mom and Dad returned they didn't suspect a thing.

The folks are planning another trip soon and my brother is planning another party. I hate to double-cross him but I don't think my parents deserve this kind of treatment. Shall I tell them if he goes ahead against my advice?—Sis

Dear Sis: Don't betray your brother's confidence. Do what you can to talk him out of giving the party—even refuse to help him clean up the house to cover the traces. But don't snitch.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait." enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Solemn Jewish Holy Days Begin at Sundown Today

The most sacred period for Jews throughout the world, the High Holy Days, marking the beginning of a new year, will begin at sundown, today, with the observance of Rosh Hashono. The solemn Holy Day ushers in the Jewish Calendar Year 5723.

Rosh Hashono inaugurates a ten-day period of spiritual self-analysis and prayer, climaxed by the observance of the tenth day, Yom Kippur the Day of Atonement beginning at sundown, October 7th.

Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe Rosh Hashono for two days; Reform Jews for one. Services at temples and synagogues will include the call to conscience with the blowing of the ancient shofar as a reminder to the worshippers that the time has arrived to reflect on past deeds and to contemplate a better life in the year ahead. In the prayers of the service, the Jewish congregants re-evaluate their own lives and reinterpret God's commandments in more positive ways for the coming year.

Pray for Good Year

At home, the Holy Days take on a symbolic meaning for the family as they dip a piece of apple or bread into honey with a prayer that the year ahead will be sweet and blessed.

A prayer excerpt from the High Holy Day Union Prayerbook reads:

"The stirring sound of the Shofar proclaimed the covenant at Mount Sinai which bound Israel to God as a kingdom of priests and a holy people. Ever since that distant day, the voice of the Shofar has resounded through the habitations of Israel awakening high allegiance to God and His commandments. At the new moon, on joyous festivals as well as on solemn days of fasting and repentance, and in the Jubilee year when liberty was proclaimed throughout the land, our fathers hearkened to the tones of the ram's horn and recalled their obligation to serve the Lord with all their heart and with all their strength. Thus do we, their children, prepare to hearken now to the solemn sound of the Shofar. May it summon us to struggle against the forces of evil within our hearts and in the world. Let it arouse within us the will to righteousness and strengthen our trust in God's justice and love. May it direct our thoughts to the day when the Shofar will sound for the redemption of all mankind."

The Shofar, a ram's horn, has traditional meaning to the Jewish congregation. In ancient times, it was used chiefly for signals and alarms. Specifically in war, it would assemble the army, signal attack, stop pursuit, and signal dismissal or return to home. The Shofar was also used to proclaim important events, such as the crowning of a king and the announcement of the new moon upon which the calendar is based.

Consecrational Period

The ram's horn was first blown with long blasts at the beginning of each month. Then it was blown in preparation for the High Holy Days, from the first of Elul through the first of Tishri (beginning of Rosh Hashono) until Yom Kippur, ten days later. With the Shofar's use in the High Holy Day season, a lasting significance developed. The mighty rolling and stirring sounds took on a meaning felt to be a divine summons to repentance and improvement. This feeling arose because Rosh Hashono was regarded as the earnest consecrational beginning of the Ten Days of Penitence ending with Yom Kippur. This was the time when mankind was judged in heaven and man's fate was settled. Blowing the Shofar, the basic interpretation states, was a means of asking God to remember man.

Philo, a Greco-Jewish philosopher, read two symbolic thoughts into the custom: thanksgiving to God who halts wars between nations and struggles among the elements, and who brings peace and harmony to the world.

Another interpretation maintains that the Shofar was blown in order to confuse Satan who believed the Messiah had arrived and the end of his power on earth had come.

United Church Women greeted new members and introduced new ministers and their wives at their membership tea Tuesday at the First Congregational Church. Mrs. Raymond Sunderland and Mrs. Harry Olson had charge of arrangements. Above, Mrs. Harold Mioskowski, program chairman, chats with the Rev. Robert Edwards of the Kaukauna Methodist Church, Mrs. Charles Briggs, Appleton, and Mrs. Jacob Bender of the Salvation Army, Appleton. At left are Mrs. Edward C. Dahl, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Dauner of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Appleton, and Mrs. Richard Boya. (Post-Crescent Photo)

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Do pets lick you because they love you or is it because your skin is salty? Pat Weissledder, West Covina, Calif.

A. Probably one of the reasons your pets lick you is because he likes you and he likes you even more because your skin is salty. All animals need some salt in order to survive. I'm sure you've seen the big blocks of salt that are put out for cattle to lick. However, your dog or cat wouldn't want to lick your hand if he were afraid of you, so he must know that you are his friend. Friendly or not, the salt of your perspiration is no more beneficial to your pet than his saliva is to your skin. In fact, it could be dangerous. So, licking and kissing by pets should be discouraged.

Dr. Moller will send books on pet care to readers submitting best questions. Mail yours on a postcard in care of this paper.

Football is a great game. Help the young man enjoy it in safety.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Baby It's Cold . . .

As the weather gets colder and furnaces get hotter, the time is ripe to winterize your skin. Both heat and cold have a drying effect. When you are exposed first to one and then the other, the drying process of course is accelerated.

Were you to begin now to use a proper night treatment, much damage could be prevented. And, as every woman knows, an ounce of prevention really is worth a pound of cure in the beauty department.

Effective treatments are variously formulated, but are always rich in oil and moisture. They may be a fluid or a cream, but always spread easily and penetrate quickly.

Some formulas contain ingredients that treat problems other than dryness. Those with hormones or placental extracts purport to improve the tone of sagging skin. The inclusion of vitamins is helpful. Vitamin A is a specific for flaky conditions; D and E foster penetration of the pores by emollients.

Another type of cream, and very good, serves multiple purposes. Owing to a combination of oils and solvents, applications cleanse, soften, refine, and act as a powder base. Four jobs for the price of one!

Speaking of cost, many readers ask why some creams are inexpensive and others break the bank. The inclusion of rare ingredients — costly mink oil, for instance — clues the reason. But price aside, no treatment is worth a fig unless you use it faithfully. Never skip a day!

East stepped up with the king of clubs and led a spade, whereupon West defeated the contract with the rest of the spades.

Criminal Identified

It should be easy to spot South as the criminal. He was last seen leaving the scene of the crime wearing a gray suit and a broad smile. Only a confirmed criminal could smile after misplaying this hand, but one may smile and smile and be a villain.

Incidentally, what was South's crime? You can't send the posse after him unless you know what he did.

South should have made his contract. Don't suggest a finesse of the 10 of diamonds. That's possible only if you peek at the East hand.

The correct play is to begin with the hearts instead of the diamonds. When the jack falls, you can get to dummy's ten of hearts and then back to your hand with the queen of diamonds to cash the last heart. Only then can you afford to go after the diamonds.

This play permits you to make the contract if either red suit breaks favorably. If neither suit breaks, pay up and start living a cleaner life.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S - K-9-5; H - A - K-4-3; D-Q-10; C-Q - 10-9-5. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs. Partner should bid a 4-card heart suit if he has one. If he rebids spades instead, you will go for game in spades. Otherwise you will aim at game in notrump.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

ADULTS ONLY AT RECEPTION

We will mail invitations to relatives and friends for our daughter's wedding and breakfast and will include the names of the children. We are also having a reception in the evening but just for grown-ups so how can we let everyone know that we don't want children? May we say "for adults only"? We have seen the annoyances and destruction when children are present and are happy to have them for the breakfast but that is enough.

Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

It would not be correct to have "for adults only" on your reception cards. Your only solution would be to order separate cards and request your stationer to leave a wide space in the middle to be filled in by hand. Suggestion: (first line) Mr. and Mrs. Your Name (second line) request the pleasure of (third line empty) (fourth line) at a reception (fifth line) at eight o'clock (last line) Sunset Plaza. In the empty space the hand writing would be: Mr. and Mrs. Brown's company. This separate card is a polite, firm but subtle way of eliminating the children. No doubt you will be having a request for a reply on your breakfast cards in which case you would word the engraving (first line) Please reply to (second line) your address. If some of your evening reception guests are not being invited to the breakfast or vice versa, you would have to include your address on both cards.

Woman Worries Over Tranquilizer Habit

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: There is so much controversy that I'd like your opinion on this: Will three tranquilizers a day hurt me? I have been taking (name of brand) for over a year.

Dr. Molner

My doctor and oral surgeon say I have inflamation of the nerve of the tongue. I suffer badly from pain and burning. Tranquilizers make me comfortable, but I worry for fear I will become addicted to them or that they will produce other bad effects. Mrs. B. L.

The particular tranquilizer you are taking has been thoroughly investigated and I know of no ill effects from its prolonged use.

Taken Freely

Many people, however, seem to believe erroneously that "a tranquilizer is a tranquilizer," and that they can safely go ahead and take whatever kind they can lay hands on, and in whatever amount they choose, and for whatever "reason" they happen to think they need one. This idea can be harmful. With some users, there may be a chance of faint addiction, but this is not even to be considered in the sense of narcotics habit.

The risk is more on the order of simply lapsing into the habit — not addiction — and becoming dependent on the tranquilizers in that sense.

Your case is quite different. You are taking a regulated dosage. You are under the care of physicians who are alert for signs that the drug happens to be unsuited to you. These days doctors have quite an assortment of tranquilizers which have quite specific effects, and so they are able to select the one that fits the type of case in question.

Pain Is Tiring

Yours is an example of a continuing painful condition in which the pain is not overwhelming, but does become a steady drag on your nerves and system. This is real, not something that is only "in your head." Even when you aren't consciously thinking about the discomfort, you are automatically aware of it.

The tranquilizer does just about what its name implies; gives you an increased sense of ease. It lessens the attention you focus on the nagging pain. There is both a respite for your natural nerve tension and a release from fatigue, because pain is decidedly tiring.

These two releases from the consequences of the pain added together enter into an actual reduction in the pain. A beneficial cycle, rather than a vicious cycle, is established.

You can discard your worries about the medication you are taking.

Corns on Soles

Dear Dr. Molner: I have what appear to be corns on the bottom of my feet. How can I get rid of them? Mrs. D. S.

Corns are the result of abnormal pressure. To get rid of them and stay rid of them removal of the pressure is necessary. Sometimes wider or longer shoes are the basic answer. Sometimes arch support is necessary. But in your case, a more important first question is whether these are corns, or are something else, such as plantar warts which form on the sole. I'd see a podiatrist (foot specialist) or orthopedist, or your personal physician to find out exactly what kind of a "corn" is bothering you.

Fears Pregnancy

Dear Dr. Molner: My gynecologist says I am safe from becoming pregnant if I have missed three consecutive menstrual periods. (I am 49 and going through the change.) Another doctor said about a year and another said two years before you are safe. Which is right? Mrs. F. S.

I have long used the rule of one year after the last menstrual period. Three months is probably long enough in most cases, but there can be exceptions. There is actually no fixed time.

My leaflet, "THE LOST SECRET OF REDUCING," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

820 Scouts Spent Part of Summer at Gardner Dam Camp

The Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, last summer had 820 Boy Scouts spend a week or more in its Gardner Dam Camp, for a total of 900 camper weeks, according to George Banta III of Menasha, chairman of the council's camping committee.

The camp facilities also are used by troops on weekends throughout the year. During the fall, winter and spring of 1961-1962, a total of 3,234 camper days were recorded as a result of these weekend outings.

The Valley Council, a Red Feather agency, now is promoting a new "Fit for Tomorrow" program launched by the Boy Scouts of America, through the leaders of its 153 units. Spearheading this work is the council's health and safety committee headed by Dr. T. A. Howells, Appleton.

Disposal of Federal AEC Project

Los Alamos Residents Dismayed— U. S. Cutting Their 'Apron Strings'

BY HAROLD R. WILLIAMS

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP)—The federal government is preparing to cut the Los Alamos atomic apron strings.

But most of the 13,600 residents of this atomic city don't like the prospect and wish they could continue under the benevolent thumb of the Atomic Energy Commission sion.

A bill awaiting President Kennedy's signature provides for disposal of all Los Alamos property not directly connected with AEC projects. The action follows similar disposals at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Richland, Wash.

Ramon Sanchez, 23, a gas station attendant, summed up Los Alamos community feeling:

"Had It Made"

"This town really had it made. The AEC did everything for you —and for free. I hate to see it go."

The AEC does do everything for its dwellers from fixing a leaky faucet to repairing streets—and mowing lawns in some cases. The Zia Co., the AEC's giant housekeeper, does most of the chores.

Disposing of property in Los Alamos, which the AEC owns lock, stock and barrel, will not affect the Los Alamos scientific laboratory. Its research, projects and experiments continue with no change.

Another reason Los Alamos doesn't like the changeover is because of the big bite it will take out of the pocketbook.

With the AEC owning everything, there were no taxes other than personal, because the federal government can't be taxed. Now with Los Alamos residents owning their homes and ground, taxes will make a bigger dent in the take home pay.

Giveaway

The AEC will sell and give away residences, businesses, even churches, schools and the police station.

Los Alamos has some 3,500 dwelling units, ranging from kitchenette apartments to single-family homes, the latter in the minority (only 34 per cent).

The person living in the house at the time of the sale will be given first chance to buy it. Storekeepers will get an opportunity to purchase their business buildings.

There are 45 stores. The total community facilities to be put up for sale are estimated to be worth $38 million.

The federal government will donate municipal facilities valued between $22 and $24 million. Most of these are churches, schools, parks, a hospital and county offices.

Subsidy Payments

The proposed new law provides for spending $8.7 million in improvements, which will likely include a new courthouse, and $2 or $3 million in annual subsidy payments over a 10-year period.

Actual sale of the real estate is not expected to start before mid-1964. The Federal Housing Administration must appraise the homes, each one separately, and this isn't expected to be done until early 1964.

A little less than 20 years ago, the Army's Manhattan District took over a remote mountain school for boys as the site for a super-secret laboratory to build the world's first atomic bomb.

The town has grown from a collection of log and stone school buildings to a clean and bright city.

The laboratory has a staff of 3,500, including more than 1,200 scientists and engineers. The laboratory is operated for the AEC by the University of California.

1961 Decision

The decision to sell Los Alamos to its residents was made in 1961. One big reason for such a proposal is the acute housing shortage.

"We fully expect that the action authorized in this bill will stimulate private building, bring in outside capital and eventually help to solve the housing problem," said Charles C. Campbell, AEC area manager.

It is estimated 500 laboratory employes live outside the Los Alamos County boundaries.

Ellis Stout, an AEC safety engineer, who was returned to office as county commission chairman by an overwhelming majority this spring, has aided disposal plans since their inception. But he personally doesn't think disposal will work without AEC subsidy.

He points out that the laboratory is the town's only "industry." But it can't be taxed. And Los Alamos has been coddled by the AEC with the best of everything.

Police Department

The police department is made up of civil service employes who are trained for border patrol work. These men are paid much over the average for New Mexico policemen.

Schools have blossomed in every neighborhood until now there are 11. They are ultra modern.

The business center of Los Alamos consists of malls connecting stores and a large beautiful park in the center. This park is just one of many.

Stout, who has been at Los Alamos 16 years, doesn't believe any other industry will locate in Los Alamos. It is literally "the end of the road."

The town is nestled among pines at the foot of some of the most spectacularly rugged mountain scenery in New Mexico.

There are no railroads and the winding steep mountain roads are the only transportation link to a world some 1,500 feet below.

Almost every detail of the shift from almost complete AEC control to a county government has been worked out by the three county commissioners.

$1 Per Year

Los Alamos County was chiseled out of two counties when it was formed in 1949. Its elected officials are $1 a year men with the exception of the county attorney.

One of the biggest problems ahead is utilities. Stout argues the AEC should turn these over to the county instead of selling them to private industry. The AEC has not said what will be done with the utilities.

Another problem is water. Deep wells far down the valley supply the water and it is pumped up to Los Alamos through many miles of pipe. The AEC has said it will give the county the distribution but not the source of its water supply.

Tentative arrangements for disposing of the residences have been announced by Stout.

The houses range in price from about $8,000 to $16,000.

After the FHA appraisal, the buyer can purchase the home for a 25 per cent reduction of the appraised cost. He must make a 3 per cent down payment.

Young Business Man:

YOUR CARRIER

Bill Drews of Hortonville took over his Post-Crescent newspaper route from his brother, Tom, a year ago and continues to keep a substantial number of customers happy on the city's Main street east through town to the city limits.

Drews

Like practically all of his young carrier colleagues, Bill has little time for street loitering or mischief, keeping himself happy and occupied in sports and hobbies. He hopes to be one of the starting lineup during the basketball season at Bethlehem Lutheran. This summer, after winning a trombone contest, he spent two weeks at Wisconsin State Teachers College, Oshkosh, studying an advanced course in music. This year he is an eighth grade student at school, sings in the Junior Choir.

Bill purchases clothes, has bought a bicycle, transistor radio, supports his stamp collection and a savings account with profits from his Post-Crescent newspaper route.

Red Feather to Contact 81 Firms

Contacts with 81 construction firms are starting this week in the Appleton United Red Feather Campaign.

The solicitors in this division were organized by William McGraw and Edward Uehlein. The workers met at the YMCA on Sept. 25. At this meeting the importance of each firm making a gift was stressed. The firms should be asked to give their employees an opportunity to give to the 10 agencies included in the Red Feather Campaign, the chairman said.

State Rights Handy Tool For Politicians

Others Won't Go Along With Mississippi in Current Dispute

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mississippi's Gov. Ross R. Barnett is just a Johnny-come-lately in waving the state rights' flag to defy the federal government and the Supreme Court.

Other states and their leaders have done the same, almost from the beginning of both the government and the court. State rights are an important part of the American system of government.

But the state rights' slogan has often been a handy, and sometimes reckless, excuse to have things both ways: To boost the union when it's convenient and to defy the union when that's convenient.

Fortunately most of the time—except during the Civil War—when one state tried defiance under the state rights' blanket, others wouldn't. So there wasn't much ganging up.

Does Defying

Barnett is doing the defying now in Mississippi by refusing to let a 29-year-old Negro veteran of the Korean War, James H. Meredith, register at the all-white University of Mississippi.

This defiance is immediately against a lower federal court which ordered Mississippi authorities to let Meredith in the school. But basically it is a defiance of the Supreme Court's ban on racial segregation in public schools.

To show how the state rights' cry has often been used as a political gimmick, American historians Samuel Eliot Morison and Henry Steele Commager, in their "Growth of The American Republic" said:

"Almost every man in public life between 1798 and 1860 spurned it when his section was in the saddle and embraced it when his constituents deemed themselves oppressed.

"Almost every state in turn declared its own absolute sovereignty, only to denounce as treasonable similar declarations by other states."

And Charles Beard, in his "Rise of American Civilization," said: "From the foundations of the republic all factions were for high nationalism or low provincialism upon occasion, according to their desires at the moment . . ."

Mississippi is a prime example. South Carolina, when it felt it was hurting in the 1820s from a tariff act passed by Congress, declared the doctrine of "nullification." This meant it decided it had the right to declare any act of Congress unconstitutional and refuse to abide by it.

So it threatened to jail any U.S. officials who tried to collect tariff duties in South Carolina. Virginia, Alabama and Georgia wanted no part of this. And Thursday night Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy quoted the Mississippi State Legislature at the time as passing this resolution:

"This state owes a duty to the union above all minor considerations. The doctrine of nullification is contrary to the letter and spirit of the Constitution."

Now, in effect, Mississippi has adopted the doctrine of nullification.

South Carolina finally nullified its nullification when Congress, while authorizing President Jackson to use the Army and Navy if he had to, mollified South Carolina by amending the tariff act a bit.

The Supreme Court was defied almost from the moment the justices sat down. In 1793 Georgia, which wouldn't go along with South Carolina on the state rights' bit in the 1820s, challenged the right of the court to consider a suit against a state. Its House of Representatives passed a resolution that any U.S. marshal trying to execute a court order in such a suit should be hanged without benefit of clergy.

(Note: The Confederate States did not set up a supreme court. Their Senate complained about the "monstrous despotism" of the U.S. Supreme Court.)

But other states in one way or another—Pennsylvania, Ohio, Virginia, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Maryland—defied the court at one time or another.

Presidents Jefferson and Madison before they were presidents, helped along the idea that the state has the right to decide for itself whether it will accept an act or decision of the federal government.

This was in a resolution written by Jefferson and passed by the Kentucky Legislature and another written by Madison and approved by the Virginia Legislature. Both men were angry about the alien and sedition laws rammed through by their political enemies, the Federalists who ran Congress.

Aldermen Study Plan to Revamp Finance Program

Cite Need for Cooperation of School Board to Make It Work

Appleton aldermen arrived at no conclusions or recommendations Thursday night on a report calling for wholesale overhauling of the city's financial administrative structure There was some feeling the report was "too vague"

The report was prepared by the Wisconsin Public Expenditure Survey at the request of the Appleton Taxpayers' Association, which was represented at the meeting.

While listing alternatives that might be taken the report says the city should establish a department of finance, appoint a director of finance and make the position of city clerk appointive rather than elective. Those two appointive positions should replace the present elective offices of clerk, treasurer and assessor, the state expenditure and local group says

Cooperation Needed

There was some reception to the plan for appointing a finance director, establishing centralized accounting and, eventually centralized purchasing, to encompass all municipal boards and agencies It was emphasized that cooperation of the board of education would be needed to make the proposed centralized accounting program work to the benefit of the city

However, before committing themselves, aldermen wanted to obtain more information on the impact the report recommendations would have.

Aldermen were eager to ask questions and representatives of the taxpayers' group just as eager to answer them.

Richard Allen of the Appleton group, and Glen Owen, Madison, who prepared the extensive report, said centralized accounting within the city government was most important. They stressed

Ask Increase Of $56 Million For Education

MADISON (AP)—The State Department of Public Instruction today proposed a budget for the 1963 - 65 biennium totaling $208 5 million, or $56 3 million more than the amount appropriated for the current two year period.

The spending request was submitted to the State Department of Administration, which will relay it to the new governor in January

Of the total amount asked, $204 2 million is earmarked for state school aid that would be alloted under existing formulas And $6 5 million of the school aid total is needed to meet deficiency in the state's current aid to schools.

State Superintendent Angus B Rothwell told a news conference the deficiency sum would cut to $49 8 million the amount of new spending called for in the total 1963-65 budget

In reference to money demands made by the school aid formulas, Rothwell said

"Unlike the state university and our state colleges, our board of regents is the Legislature and their rules regarding school aids already account for 98 per cent of our budget"

In submitting the $208 5 million request, Rothwell added his endorsement to a change in state aid formulas that would add $28 million to proposed spending. The formula change has been recommended by the Biennial Aids Adjustment Committee.

Holland Pastor Retiring on 76th Birthday

Msgr. John DeVries Will Return to Native Netherlands

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. De Vries, pastor of St. Francis Seraph Church, Holland, for 19 years, will retire on his 78th birthday, Oct. 8.

The Rev. Edward Kilsdonk, now pastor of St. Joseph parish, Phlox, and a native of Little Chute, has been named to replace Msgr. De Vries.

Msgr. De Vries announced that he plans to spend his retirement living with a brother in the Netherlands. He was born in Holland, and has served in the Green Bay diocese 46 years. He has been dean of the De Pere Deanery since 1942.

Gave 5 Priests

Msgr. De Vries is a member of a Dutch family that gave five priests to the Catholic Church. He has been a priest for 54 years.

He was born in Schijndel, Holland, Oct. 8, 1884. He took his early studies for the priesthood in Rawenberg and St. Norbert, Holland, and studied theology with the Mill Hill Fathers in London. He was ordained Sept. 19, 1908, by the Bishop of Westminster and assigned to work in the missions of the Philippine Islands

He did missionary work until 1916 when he came to work in the Green Bay Diocese, starting as an assistant in St Patrick parish, Green Bay.

Site Ruled Acceptable on Air Space Use; Requires Instrument Flight Controls

The Federal Aviation Agency has found the Outagamie County airport site acceptable for visual and instrument operation.

The district engineer's office of the FAA in Minneapolis today said the airport is acceptable for visual flight regulation and "undesirable" from an instrument landing regulation standpoint, but that the IFR problem can be resolved and that the port therefore "is acceptable from an airspace utilization standpoint."

The report on the FAA study will be mailed today to Supv Mark Catlin, chairman of the county airport committee He is expected to receive it Saturday.

Question Raised

Green Bay interests raised the question of air space several months ago because of an apparent overlapping of the instrument landing patterns with Austin Straubel field Outagamie County airport supporters argued that the overlapping was of little consequence

The FAA ruling appears to indicate the problem is not significant and can be resolved through establishing certain IFR restrictive procedures

The proposal submitted by Ralph H. Burke, Inc., airport consultants, listed a 7,000-foot northwest-southeast instrument landing runway with a 3,050-foot parallel runway, and a 6-400-foot northeast-southwest runway, with a 2,925-foot parallel runway.

FAA Conclusion

The conclusion on the FAA findings says

"In conclusion, the subject airport with the proposed runways is undesirable from an IFR standpoint

"However, in view of the fact that restrictive IFR procedures can be developed which will allow IFR traffic to operate to and from the subject airport, Austin-Straubel and Winnebago County airports, and giving consideration to the volume of traffic involved we find the subject airport acceptable from an air space utilization standpoint"

Committee Asks Employee Safety Rules

Kaukauna Board Wants Earlier Injury Reports

KAUKAUNA — The city safety committee, representing the heads and an elected representative of various departments, voted to recommend to the board of public works Wednesday, that a policy be adopted governing injuries on-the-job to employee.

The committee asked that an employe failing to report an occupational injury within 24 hours be given a 1-week lay-off for the first offense A second offense would mean dismissal, according to the recommendation

This is an effort to help solve the problem of numerous lost-time accidents which the public works board has been investigating. It was found some injury cases were not reported for a week or 10 days after they occurred The board has been worried about insurance rates due to the frequency of lost-time accidents among city street employees

The committee voted to recommend to the council that all male employees must wear safety shoes A second recommendation would make safety shoes available for street, park, sewer, sewage plant, police and water department employees with the city to pay $2 toward the cost of purchasing the shoes

The recommendation would limit each employee to two pairs of safety shoes per year, for which partial remuneration would be made by the city.

Wednesday Will be D-Day On Appleton Armory Site

Aldermen Prefer Industrial Site to Bahcall Property

Wednesday will be D-for-decision day for the Appleton council, when it determines if it wants the state to build a $400 000 national guard armory and service center in the city's industrial park to serve the entire Fox Cities area.

Aldermen agreed to arrive at the major decision next week when they held an informal meeting with national guard representatives at city hall Thursday night and discussed all aspects of the proposed project The state has Appleton at the top of its priority list for construction of a new armory in 1963, but the city would be obliged to donate the land, sewer and water for the project.

The common council finds itself torn between two alternatives should it decide to donate land for the armory. One is whether it should be a 27 acre area in the city s industrial park, and the other is whether the city should purchase the 34-acre Bahcall Investment Co property, adjacent to the industrial park, which has been offered for sale at a cost of $85,000.

Either Suitable

Col Robert Schroeder, representing the National Guard, said the state felt either property would be suitable for the proposed construction He explained a good share of the land would be used for outdoor training exercises

Information pertaining to land and other costs was supplied aldermen by Donald C. Bengs, assistant director of public works, and Walter Rasmussen, city planner.

Bengs disleosed the industrial park land had a value of $45,000 ($1,730 per acre) undeveloped, and that installation of city services would cost $98,000, making a total value of $144,000 He reported sewer and water mains already have been installed. The 27 acres ropresents the largest single tract in the industrial park, the next largest being 17 acres.

Invest $173,000

The cost of the undeveloped Bahcall property, according to Bengs, is $2,450 per acre for a total of $85,000. The improvements on three sides of the site would cost the city an additional $88,000, making the total investment $173,000

Both pieces of property have identical topography features and would be ideal for National Guard training purposes.

Some aldermen questioned whether the armory should be built in a park which has been designated for industries, and favored purchase of the Bahcall property, providing it could be purchased

Continuing, Slowly

Despite the many difficulties the work of organizing Lutheran churches in Mexico is continuing slowly. Pastors must be native born. The church buildings must be nationalized. Workers feel they are farther away and in a more foreign setting in Mexico than anywhere else, he said.

The effects of sharing with all was the subject of the talk presented by Dr Dorothy Haas, director general of the ALCW, who was a delegate to the World Council of Churches meeting in New Delhi, India

Mrs Georgie Kruse of Eau Claire was elected representative to the general nominating committee, and Mrs John Kidd, also of Eau Claire, is the alternate.

Superintendent Tells PTA Neenah Needs New School

Dr. Scott Says City Must Have 2nd Junior High by 1965

NEENAH — A second junior high school will be needed by the fall of 1965 to handle the enrollment anticipated then, Dr. Don Scott, superintendent of schools, advised the Hoover School PTA Thursday night.

When the second junior high school is opened, the Neenah schools will change to a 6-3-3 basis which is six years of elementary schools, three years of junior high school and three years of senior high school. It is now on a 6-2-4 basis.

He discussed the present work now underway at the high school which will provide capacity for 1,750 pupils. The present enrollment is 1,450. By 1970 it is expected that there will be 2,260 high school age students.

Dr. Scott said that next year there will be about seven or eight empty classrooms in the system, plus the Gillingham School which is not being used this year. This will be because of the opening of the Coolidge School contemplated for next February.

However, he pointed out, the pace at which homes are being built on the west side of U. S. 41 will mean a study of housing those children in a school.

He described the transition from separate rural schools into the joint system as being smooth and commended the work done by the various boards, committees and districts to bring that transition about.

It has not been without its problems but these are being resolved as rapidly as possible. He listed among the poblems, the scheduling of transportation of 3,500 pupils and spreading some of the specialized staff rather thin to handle all the pupils.

Construction Snags Delay Work on Bank

Construction was resumed today on the new Northern State Bank building on the northeast corner of Wisconsin Avenue and Drew Street following a one-week delay.

Bank officials were notified by the city building inspector last week that a portion of the building was in violation of the setback rules by six and a half feet.

A spokesman for the banking firm erecting the new $200,000 facility appeared at an informal meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals Thursday and discussed the problem. The foundation of the building has been completed and upper level work has been started.

Building inspector Walter Bogan said the construction permit specifies that the building setback be 10 feet from the sidewalk. One corner of the building is in violation. Bank officials are deliberating whether to attempt to redesign a portion of the structure or seek special action to allow the violation. The matter is slated to come before the Board of Appeals Oct. 9.

Work is now being confined to that part of the building not affected by the setback.

Bank representatives have assured city officials they are eager to cooperate in solving the problem.

The ultra-modern banking facility is expected to be completed and operating shortly after Jan. 1, 1963. Customer parking and several drive-in windows will be provided.

Man Determined to Stay In Jail 'Wins' 20 Days

CHILTON — Edward W. Engelhardt showed rare determination to remain behind bars, so on Wednesday an understanding judge gave him an opportunity to stay there for 20 more days.

Engelhardt, 39, formerly of route 1, Menasha, but now claiming a Chicago address, was arrested Saturday night in Sherwood by a Calumet County deputy who told the court that Engelhardt was attempting to scale the interior walls of a Sherwood tavern.

He admitted the charge in court Monday and was fined $20 with a 10-day jail term alternate by County Judge D. H. Sebora.

Engelhardt chose jail but on Tuesday an unidentified benefactor paid his fine and he was released at 8:30 a.m.

Shortly after midnight he stepped into the sheriff's office and asked to be jailed overnight. The jailer refused and sent him on his way.

Slept Under Boat

Several minutes later a noise behind the jail and sheriff's office alerted police. When they went to investigate they found Engelhardt sleeping under a boat on the floor of the Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky's garage.

Again he was sent on his way and told to get a room downtown. He left but was found less than 20 minutes later sleeping in the back seat of Kosmosky's car.

This time the police were obliging and locked him up for the balance of the night. He admitted disorderly conduct Wednesday before Judge Sebora who levied a $40 fine with a 20-day jail alternate.

Engelhardt again chose jail.

It was his 11th conviction in Calumet County.

Gronowski Hits Sales Tax at Oshkosh Rally

OSHKOSH — "I don't see how a sales tax can be logically supported as a just means of taxation unless it is understood that the prime purpose of such a tax structure is to shift revenue burden from the high to the low income groups within a state."

With these words, John Gronowski, Wisconsin tax commissioner, summed up his beliefs concerning the Wisconsin sales tax during an address to the Winnebago County Democratic Party Thursday night here at the Raulf Hotel.

"A sales tax," Gronowski explained, "does not have any rational basis; it continues regardless of unemployment, sickness, accident, what have you. An income tax is a much more rational tax structure," he continued, "because the taxpayer contributes more or less in true proportion to the size of his income."

Vote 1 Cent Hike

Committee Agrees to Mileage Pay Increase

OSHKOSH — Personnel committee members of the Winnebago County Board Thursday night voted to recommend to the Board to increase the mileage allowance for county employees, the county's share of the hospitalization insurance and the amount of sick leave allowed.

The mileage allowance would be raised from 7 cents to 8 cents a mile for employees using their cas on county business.

Whereas the county previously had been paying $2.50 a month for employees' hospital insurance, they now will pay $3.50 a month if the Board approves the recommendation. This payment will only be for the individual employee and will not cover his family, it was pointed out.

Accumulated sick leave would be raised from 30 days to 60 days under the committee's recommendation. These recommendations will be included in a resolution to be submitted to the County Board at its budget meeting. The Board has the final word on the changes.

Personnel committee members met with the Courthouse Employees Association officers to discuss those changes.

Action on the establishment of a 7-man county park commission was postponed pending further study on that subject. Creation of such a commission was proposed at Wednesday's County Board meeting by the county fair, park and conservation committee in order for the county to secure state aid for park development.

Tax Payment Resolution Given Okay

Appleton's finance committee has approved a proposal to permit Appleton residents to pay a major portion of their 1962 property taxes before they get the bills.

City Treasurer Ray Feuerstein says bills will be late this year because of the new state sales tax credits.

Ald. George Buckley introduced the resolution which would enable the city treasurer to accept the tax payments before Jan. 1, 1963, thus permitting residents to use the payment for 1962 federal income tax purposes.

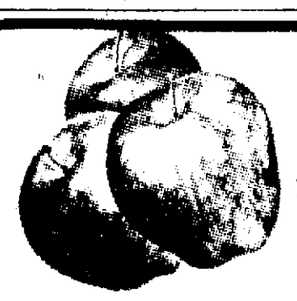

Committee members agreed that the resolution, if passed by the council, would provide a convenience to Appleton property owners. Feuerstein favored it.

In other action, the committee recommended the police department's six meter maids have their salaries increased from $260 to $270 a month. The pay boosts will be retroactive to the dates the meter checkers completed their six-month probationary periods.

Meter maids did not receive the $10 increment at the time it was due them because of an oversight.

No action was taken by the committee on a proposal calling for the city attorney to be hired on a fulltime basis.

The committee also recommended that the Council hold an informal meeting with representatives of the Appleton Taxpayers' Association to discuss the city's long-range capital improvement program.

Several more classes on photography have been slated, Chief Clark noted, all part of a continuous inservice training program designed to make still more efficient the services rendered by the Menasha police department.

The proposed operating budget of $144,670 is $1,895 below this year's budget.

Third Attempt

The board is making its third try for a bookmobile. The council has turned down the board's requests for funds for a bookmobile for the last two years. The library board's position has been that a bookmobile would serve Appleton's needs more economically and more effectively than branch libraries.

The board has requested $13,711 from Outagamie County. In calculating anticipated receipts for 1963, however, the board used the amount received from the county in 1962. The finance committee of the library board met Thursday with the county finance committee to discuss the county appropriation.

The $13,711 request from the county is based on the cost of service to county schools and to non-Appleton residents who use the library. The figure was determined from an audit of the cost of use of library facilities made for the board.

The county appropriation of $6,300 for 1962 was $812 below the amount requested by the library board.

Major Expenses

The proposed budget is from $100 to $610 below the 1962 budget in 10 categories, the same in seven categories, and up $75 and $175 in two categories.

The major expenses are $84,755 for librarians' salaries, $8,440 for janitors' salaries, $6,795 for social security and insurance, and $27,500 for books and periodicals.

The final draft of the budget is $2,500 above the first draft, because of increases in costs of social security, insurance and water.

Around Home..

Two eighth grade boys at St. Mary School, Chilton combined an arithmetic problem with some practical home economics.

The boys, Dan Holst and Tom Parker, were wrestling with some mathematics problems dealing with fractions Wednesday and decided to put one dealing with the amounts of ingredients of a cookie recipe to the supreme test.

Substituting the arithmetic book for the cook book, the boys used the recipe to bake up a batch of cookies and surprised their teacher, Sister Dorissa, and classmates by bringing the cookies to school Thursday.

The unusual "homework" failed to solve the problem but it did make the noon recess enjoyable.

at "a reasonable price". Members of the council generally felt the offering price was too high.

Others said the armory would not only be an asset to the Appleton Community, but also to the industrial park which has mostly warehouse buildings.

In reply to a question Mayor Clarence Mitchell said the city had no industry inquiries at the present time for property in the park. The industrial layout was originally comprised of 130 acres of which 35 have been sold.

Make Agreement

Rasmussen said if it is possible, the city should try to make an agreement with the state that if the land at any time is not used for armory purposes, it would revert back to the city.

City Assessor John Pierre pointed out to aldermen the armory land would be tax exempt and not on the tax roll. At that point Schroeder noted the present old armory on College Avenue also has been tax exempt.

Representatives of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce were present but indicated they had no statement concerning the matter.

In recent years the state has constructed 35 new armories with the land being donated in each instance.

During discussion it was pointed out the Bahcall property is located in the Town of Grand Chute and would have to be annexed. Some aldermen envisioned problems with the sanitary sewer district in that area and were inclined to favor the industrial park site for the armory.

Gordon A. Bubolz, who attended the session, said the first thing to be decided was whether Appleton wanted the armory. "It seems to me to be a logical and necessary facility," he said. He thought the Bahcall property would be the best area.

Schroeder told aldermen and others on the sidelines construction of the guard armory in Appleton would represent another milestone toward successful completion of the Chamber of Commerce Project 70.

Trace Problems

"And, if we don't take advantage of the state's offer now, no one knows when we will get a new armory here," Schroeder said. He intimated some of the city's airport problems now could be traced back to lack of a favorable decision 15 years ago. "Now we're trying to catch up for what was not done then," Schroeder said about the airport program.

The council authorized the mayor and other city officials to investigate the Bahcall property offer further so that a final decision can be made at Wednesday night's regular meeting.

Aldermen suggested the city might purchase 20 to 25 acres of Bahcall property instead of all of it. However, a telephone call to a representative of the Bahcall Investment Co. disclosed the firm would want more money per acre if the city did not buy the entire tract.

Although "chilled" on the Bahcall property because of the price, aldermen felt an attempt should be made to arrive at a more favorable figure, if possible.

the need for uniform accounts and someone with direct supervision over them.

They said all non-policy financial functions, such as those performed by the controller, treasurer and assessor, represent staff services and should be under one department head (finance director) and closely controlled. Extensive office machine utilization was advocated.

Allen and Owen said staff service officers could be appointive rather than elective. The appointments would be made by the mayor and common council, or through regular civil service procedures.

Some aldermen said that in effect the elimination of the elective positions would be taking the voting rights away from the people. They were told by the taxpayers' representatives that basic responsibility and policy-making would be in the hands of the aldermen, who are elected by the people.

It was suggested by one alderman that comparison of costs be made of the current facialinn made of the current financial structure operation versus the proposed system.

Not Entirely New

Some aldermen felt that Appleton might be the "guinea pig" for a new system not in effect anywhere else in the state. They were told that some state communities have some of the recommendations in the report already in operation. Centralized accounting was said to be gaining in popularity, along with centralized purchasing.

Representatives of the Appleton League of Women Voters said they were "interested" in the proposed new accounting system, providing it leads to centralized purchasing.

Aldermen said the school board would have to be included in centralized accounting if the plan is adopted here. "If the board would decide not to cooperate, we should see what legal means could be taken to absorb them whether they want it or not," one alderman suggested.

Aldermen indicated they would devote further attention to the report in coming weeks.

Charles is charged with having relations with a 14-year-old and a 15-year-old Oshkosh girl while his brother is chaged with having relations with the 15-year-old girl.

Juvenile Court Judge James Sarres waived jurisdiction on Joseph Oestreich.

Few Soda Straws All You Need for Today's Games

BY CAPPY DICK

A few ordinary soda straws are all you need for the games described today in which your mother, father, sister, brother and even your grandparents may take part. The dining room table is a good place to [illegible]

[illegible] called "Clean [illegible]" Tear some paper [illegible] small scraps and scatter them over the center of the table. Give each person a soda straw [illegible] to put his straw in his mouth and, by drawing in his breath, pick up as many pieces of paper as he can and transport them to his place at the table.

"The Mail Must Go Through" requires at least two people to play it.

The game is won by the player who gathers the most papers in three minutes.

Another game is called "The Mail Must Go Through." A piece of paper three quarters of an inch square represents a letter. Place it on the table in front of one of the players. He must pick it up on the end of his straw by drawing in his breath. Then he must turn to his righthand neighbor who must draw the paper off the first person's straw onto his own without dropping it. This is illustrated in the picture above.

The second player must pass the paper on to the third player in the same way, the letter being passed from one "mail man" to the other all around the table. The first player to drop the paper loses the game.

Another game that is fun is a race with beans. Each player has a straw and a dried bean. All start together and the first to blow his bean over a finish line is the winner.

2 Lawrence Teachers Will Attend Racine College Talks

Two Lawrence faculty members, John Alfieri of the Spanish department and Donald Lemke of the education department, will be among 20 representatives of the Associated Colleges of the Midwest to meet Friday and Saturday at Wingspread, the conference center of the Johnson Foundation in Racine.

Purpose of the meeting is to consider the reports of nine faculty members, one of them Lemke, who visited Central America this summer on faculty fellowships. Lemke went to Guatemala.

In Central America they sought to identify research projects or studies that might be carried on jointly by faculty members and students of the Associated Colleges and Central American universities.

They will report on their findings in investigations covering such fields as political change, economic development, social and economic history, social forces and literary traditions, community development, land reform, and teacher education. Participants in the meeting will seek to formulate recommendations for consideration by the colleges they represent.

Lawrence has been represented in an earlier fact-finding mission to Latin America, when Leonard Weis of the geology department was on a team that visited five countries looking for a site for a field station in the natural sciences. No final decision has been made on the Latin-American field station.

The Associated Colleges of the Midwest, organized in 1958 to promote educational effectiveness and managerial efficiency of member colleges, is made up of Coe, Cornell, Grinnell, Knox, Monmouth, Beloit, Lawrence, Ripon, Carleton and St. Olaf.

Six Projects Get Okay From House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works subcommittee approved six new Wisconsin flood control and navigation projects Wednesday.

The harbor projects approved included:

Green Bay, $4,270,000; Kenosha $673,000, Manitowoc $719,000 and Milwaukee $4,029,000.

Flood control projects approved included:

Kickapoo River, $16,570,000; Mississippi River urban areas from Hampton, Ill., to Casville, Wis., $5,350,000.

Another navigation project for the Mississippi River between the Missouri River and Minneapolis for $1,205,000, also was approved.

The committee hopes to get the bill before the House before Congress adjourns this session.

Desmond Says 5 Bears are in Doubtful Class

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — "The Bears are looking at three sets of films these days — offense, defense and X-rays.

"We have three or four players at Illinois Masonic every week.

"I've been giving out clinical reports instead of . . ."

That was some of the word from Dan Desmond, the Bears' affable publicity chief who has been in Green Bay to inform and service the press, radio and TV folks on his favorite subject, the Bears.

You might think the presence of a tub-thumper before a perennial sellout — such as the Bear-Packer game in City Stadium Sunday — would be unnecessary. But such is not the case. People are vitally interested in the problem confronting the Packers. Desmond, of course, knows all about the Bays' problem, namely Papa George Halas' Bears.

One of the unusuals this year is the Bears' injury business — as you might guess from paragraphs 1, 2 and 3.

"It started in the all-star scrimmage. We lost two good players — Brown and Mullins. And then it continued during the non-league season and by the time we played you fellas in Milwaukee we had our best three ends out — Cuozzo, Duka and Morris. And about that time we ran into that virus.

"Casares ran well in the opener against the 49ers but along about Tuesday his leg started bothering him and he never did play against the Rams.

"Bivins started at fullback behind Casares in Los Angeles and on the second play he got his ankle stepped on. Then Marconi came in and did very well (92 yards).

"Gailmore also hurt his ankle and came in for him for a while in the third quarter. We also got a look at young Billy Martin and he set up one touchdown and scored another.

"Duka re-injured his groin against the Rams.

"We have five players in the doubtful category for the Packers — Bivins and Gailmore with ankle injuries; Casares and Williams legs, and Duka with that groin.

"They'll play but they are doubtful as to a 100 per cent effort.

"George has been philosophical about the whole thing now, and he's sure it can't get any worse. One thing, he doesn't want to take any chances in these early games because he could ruin the club for the rest of the season.

"Do you know that this is the first time since 1950 that we've won our first two games. And this is the fifth time we've swept the coast series. We feel very fortunate winning our first two games. We play our first tour on the road and that's a tough schedule. After you we play at Minnesota.

"There was nothing to suggest in our exhibition season that we had a bad club. We were right in all of our games (they lost all five) and very easily could have won them all.

"Four rookies made our club — Bell, McRae, O'Brien (ouch) and Martin. Bell plays both ways and McRae is in the defensive backfield. He's a good tackler, O'Brien (ouch) is 255 and fast, Martin got 26 yards in 7 runs."

Braves Go After Sixth Straight

Jim Constable Hurls Tonight Against Pirates

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The fifth-place Milwaukee Braves begin their final series of the season tonight apparently determined to put some meaning into the old cry of "Wait 'till next year."

With no chance of going up or down the Braves will be seeking their 11th victory in 12 starts. They have put together two five-game-winning streaks in less than two weeks and tonight will try to extend the second string to six victories.

The Pirates, flattened three times in a row by Milwaukee in a Pittsburgh series that ended last Sunday, will furnish the opposition until the season runs out on Sunday.

Milwaukee's starter tonight will be Jim Constable, 29 - year - old southpaw summoned recently from Toronto, who beat the Pirates 2-0 on an impressive five-hitter last Saturday.

Warren Spahn will be on the mound Saturday afternoon seeking another record. He'll be trying for his 327th career victory, which would make him the winningest lefthander in baseball's history. He pulled into a tie with Eddie Plank by beating Houston earlier in the week.

Colts Rally For 8-6 Win; Giants Lose

BY JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

This National League pennant marathon is taking on the look of a race between two tired turtles going uphill.

But if they aren't moving very fast, at least the finish line is in sight.

For all their speed and verve, Los Angeles' pace-setting Dodgers have been backing up. And with a big burst of drive and determination, San Francisco's second-place Giants have been standing still.

The pestiferous Houston Colts applied the latest stopper to the Dodgers with a rallying 8-6 victory Thursday night at Los Angeles. A few hours before, the St. Louis Cardinals broke in front with a commanding lead and held on for a 7-4 decision at San Francisco.

Change Partners

That left the Dodgers still two games in front of the Giants and the magic number at two—meaning any combination of Dodger wins and-or Giant losses totaling two in the remaining three games gives Los Angeles the flag. The two contenders now change partners, with the Cards moving into Los Angeles for the final three games of the season and the Colts going to San Francisco for the windup weekend.

Since a string of seven straight victories pushed them four games ahead, the Dodgers have dropped seven of 10. During the same span, the Giants have managed to do no better than even—five and five.

The Colts took their last series against the league leaders two games to one with their come-from-behind triumph, battering Dodger relief stars Ed Roebuck, Larry Sherry and Ron Perranoski for six runs in the sixth and seventh innings. Jim Umbricht provided standout relief for Houston.

Gene Oliver and Stan Musial spearheaded the Cards against the Giants. Oliver warmed up with a double, then smacked a three-run homer that stood up as

Army Duty Slated For Torre, Menke

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Thursday that catcher Joe Torre, 22, will leave the club today for a six-month tour of Army duty at San Antonio, Tex.

The Braves also said that rookie infielder Denis Menke, 22, will report Oct. 7 at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for six months active service with the Army.

Right-hander Bob Shaw, sidelined with a shoulder ailment since Sept. 15, will miss the final three games of the season. Shaw, obtained last winter from the Kansas City Athletics, had a 15-9 record and a 2.80 earned run average, but failed to win a game after Aug. 17.

Lavorante's Condition Fluctuating After Reduction of Fever

LOS ANGELES (AP) — South American boxer Alejandro Lavorante today clung to life in the seventh day of coma that followed his knockout last Friday by San Francisco's Johnny Riggins.

Lavorante, an Argentine heavyweight, suffered a seizure Thursday and his temperature shot up to 105 degrees. But within an hour doctors had reduced it to 99 degrees.

Dr. DeWitt Fox, neurosurgeon who performed two emergency operations to alleviate brain pressure, said Lavorante is in the midst of a critical period and that his condition is fluctuating, "not drastically, but some." He said he was hopeful the 25-year-old boxer would survive.

Says New York May Outlaw Pro Boxing

Newspaper Report Quotes State Legislator

NEW YORK (AP)—Professional boxing may be on its way out in New York State according to a report printed Thursday in the New York Post.

The newspaper said a state legislative committee which is investigating the sport, will recommend that boxing be outlawed in the state. The Post said a state legislator, unnamed, had polled members of the investigating committee and that a majority thinks the sport is beyond saving.

The legislator was quoted as saying part of reason for the committee's feeling was the unsavory background of Sonny Liston, the new World heavyweight champion. The State Athletic Commission has refused to issue a license to Liston who has been arrested 19 times and served two jail sentences.

In Philadelphia, Liston's manager, Jack Nilon, said "We don't need New York State."

The chairman of the New York Legislative Committee, Assemblyman Hayward Plumadore, told the Associated Press "A great deal of work" remained before his committee could make a decision.

He said he had not come to any conclusion on the question of whether to continue the sport in New York but said most committee members had agreed that "at the minimum," there should be changes made in the conduct of the sport in the state.

Appleton High School will continue with the second segment on its suicide early-season Fox River Valley Conference football schedule at 1:30 p.m. Saturday when it plays host to Sheboygan South, at Goodland Field. This will be the Terrors' home opener.

The Terrors are fresh from a 14-0 loss to the No. 1-ranked team in the conference, Green Bay East, in its opening conference contest. Oshkosh was rated No. 3 in the pre-season poll.

The key man in the South attack is quarterback Gary Kampman. "Kampy" is the only returning regular in the South backfield. Bill Mueller, Dan Birkle and Tony Baranoucky are the other trio.

Kampman is an exceptionally fine ball-handler and a pretty fair passer. Against Kenosha, he completed five aerials for a distance of 113 yards. Against Oshkosh, he fired one touchdown pass, set up another TD with a long toss.

Mueller is a small speedster, just 5-5. Pound-for-pound, he is reported to be one of the best football players in the state. Birkle runs from the fullback position and Baranoucky at right halfback.

Key Men

Tackle John Cinealis and linebacker Tony Kaboord are the key men in the South defensive line. Cinealis was injured just prior to the start of the season but has performed well in the first two games.

Kaboord, who plays end on the offensive platoon, operates on the corner of the South defensive set-up. Joe Eirich, John Rupponthal and Bob Kralnik, are three more of the defensive kingpins. Rupponthal is the middle linebacker.

Dennis Wagner and Mark Simon are probably the two toughest characters in the defensive secondary. Both are ends on offense.

The AHS line received a boost for the game with the return to action this week of Tim Kranzusch. Counted on to be a regular this season, Kranzusch missed the first two games because of minor surgery.

Back Joe Bowers, who sat out the West game because of an injury, probably won't see action against South, either.

Tickets on Sale

Adult tickets for Appleton High School's football game with Sheboygan South are now on sale at the Berggren and Pond Sport shops, according to AHS officials.

Now they face South, a team that was picked for a close second place in a pre-season poll of the Fox Valley Sports Writers Association.

Oshkosh will be at Sheboygan North in the only other FRVC test Saturday. Four teams will get a jump on the weekend slate with tilts tonight. Fond du Lac is at Green Bay East, and Green Bay West journeys to Manitowoc.

The Redmen have had two stiff tests thus far this season. With the help of some superior defensive line play, South managed a 12-7 triumph over one of the Big Eight's powerhouses, Kenosha.

Coach Andy Anderson's gridders followed up last week with a 19-13 victory over Oshkosh in

Thought Cepeda Was Third Out

Mays Takes 'Walk' As Giants Lose, 7-4

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays took a walk Thursday, the kind of trip a rookie might take in spring training. Willie walked to Outsville and, with only three games to play, he apparently took San Francisco's hopes of a National League pennant with him.

This unusual stroll by the hero of the Giants' successful pennant drives in 1951 and 1954 came in the sixth inning as St. Louis whipped San Francisco 7-4.

The defeat, combined with league-leading Los Angeles' 7-6 loss to Houston left the Giants two behind the Dodgers, who still need win only two more games to clinch the flag. Both have three games to play.

St. Louis led 7-0 in the sixth when Mays doubled home Matty Alou. Willie went to third on an infield roller, the first out of the inning. Orlando Cepeda swung at a third strike for out No. 2 and Mays started to walk across the infield to center field.

Catcher Gene Oliver whipped the ball to Ken Boyer and Willie was out by a mile. He thought Cepeda was the third out.

The next three hitters, leading off in the seventh instead of continuing the rally in the sixth, produced three runs. Tom Haller walked, Jose Pagan singled and Ed Bailey walloped a three-run pinch home run. But Willie wasn't aboard to score.

Mays had one chance for redemption in the ninth inning with two out and two men aboard. He struck out against Bobby Shantz.

Willie refused to comment on his boner. Third base coach Whitey Lockman couldn't explain it, but Manager Alvin Dark commented simply that "He just went to sleep.

"That's one of the things that'll happen in a guy's career. It's probably the only time it ever happened to him," said Alvin. "They usually happen in spring training or when you're way behind."

The crowd of 6,712 only knew that it happened with a pennant at stake. It booed lustily the next time Willie appeared.

OSC, Pointers Tangle in WSCC Game

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

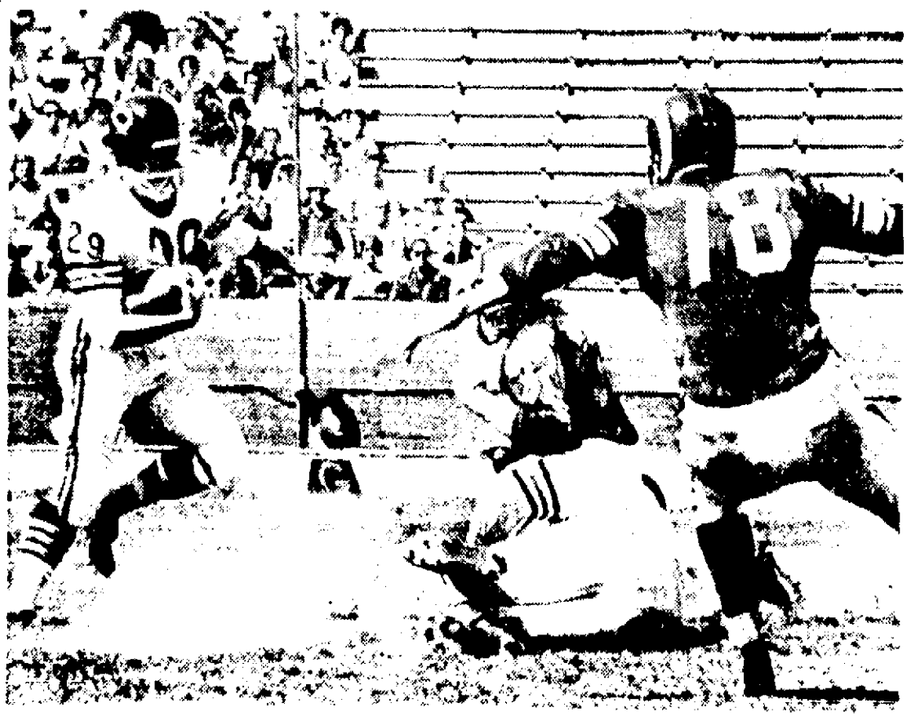

A preliminary shakeout in the Wisconsin State College Conference football scramble is scheduled for this weekend with La Crosse and Wisconsin-Milwaukee, winners of initial conference starts, clashing in Milwaukee.

The leagues two other teams that won their openers, Whitewater and Superior, will attempt to keep their perfect records against teams already defeated. Superior will be at Stout, loser of its only conference game, and Whitewater plays at Platteville, defeated in its league inaugural.

River Falls and Eau Claire will match 1-1 records at Eau Claire. Oshkosh, with an 0-2 slate, will try to break into the winners' column at defending champion Stevens Point, 1-1.

Ripon plays at Coe, 0-1, and Beloit goes up against St. Olaf.

Other Saturday games find Carroll opening College Conference of Illinois action at Carthage, independent St. Norbert entertaining Northland of the Gateway Intercollegiate conference, and Lakeland at Bethel in a Gateway clash. Milton will be at Eureka and Northwestern at St. Procopius.

Ron Bull, the Chicago Bears' No. 1 draft choice, will appear in City Stadium Sunday against the Green Bay Packers. Here, Bull is enroute to a 30-yard kickoff return against Los Angeles. No. 78 is the Rams' Jim Boeke. (AP Wirephoto)

Ron VanderKelen To Start for UW At Quarterback

Badgers Open Season Against New Mexico State Saturday

MADISON (AP) — Coach Milt Bruhn has designated Ron VanderKelen as the University of Wisconsin's starting quarterback for the Badger's opening football game of the season Saturday against New Mexico State University.

And in keeping with his policy of "going with the best," Bruhn said VanderKelen will be in Wisconsin's starting defensive lineup too.

In a month of practice VanderKelen has earned an opening game shot at filling the shoes of the Badgers' mighty passer of a year ago, Ron Miler.

One of the best defensive men on the squad, the 6-1, 180-pound senior from Green Bay has convinced the coaching staff he is a two-way player.

VanderKelen worked all summer on his passing to cash in on what he considers his first real chance to play for Wisconsin. In 1959 he played only 1½ minutes against Marquette and missed the 1960 and 1961 seasons because of injuries and academic ineligibilty.

3 Other Seniors

VanderKelen is joined by three other seniors in Bruhns probable starting lineup for New Mexico. Pat Richter, the best pass catcher in Wisconsin history, will be at right end, Ron Carlson at left end and Steve Underwood at right guard.

While New Mexico State has already played two games, Wisconsin is a heavy favorite to beat the Border Conference team. But Bruhn says his Badgers have to "overcome the experience New Mexico gained in those two games."

Badger defenses will be keyed to stopping the Aggies, James "Preacher" Pilot who ran for 1,278 yards last year to lead the nation's major college halfbacks.

New Mexico State was beaten 28-17 by the University of New Mexico in its opener, but bounced back to beat University of Pacific last Saturday 28-6.

In those two games Pilot carried the ball 30 times for 214 yards, averaging 7.1 yards per try. Another offensive threat for Coach Warren Woodson's Aggies is Woodrow Houston, a 5-8, 155-pound speedster.

This season Houston has averaged 23 yards on five punt returns and returned four kickoffs for an average of 29 yards.

New Mexico will be quarterbacked by Jim Head, the team's passer, and Armando Alba, a dangerous runner on the option play.

Wisconsin halfback Bill Smith will probably be held out of action because of a shoulder injury and guard Mike Gross is out with an injured leg.

New Mexico State was scheduled to arrive in Madison this afternoon. Game time Saturday is 1:30 p.m.

Illinois Faces Toughest Test Of Big 10 Teams

Gopher, Missouri Game Is Rated Tossup Saturday

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several rugged season football openers await Big Ten teams Saturday on an eight-game schedule.

Toughest test of all appears to be Illinois' invasion of Washington, where Purdue was stalemated 7-7 a week ago. The Illini, trying to bounce back from their first winless season in history, have been made 17-point underdogs by oddsmakers.

Illinois should be improved with coach Pete Elliott counting on sophomores and players not available in 1961. He has better passing with improvement of Ron Fearn and return of Mike Tabaferro. There is more break-away potential with sophomore Trenton Jackson, and with Jim Warren and Norm Willis, both unavailable last year.

Better line play is expected with the addition of two big rookies, Archie Sutton, 260-pound guard, and Dick Butkus, 235-pound center.

Minnesota is host to Missouri in what the cards rate as a toss-up. The Gophers, who lost a 6-0 opener to the Tigers in the snow last season, will depend on a mobile defense to stop Missouri's offensive punch which smashed California 21-10 last week. Sophomore halfback Johnny Roland scored three times and romped for 171 yards in 20 trips.

In other games, Iowa is rated 13 points at home over Oregon State, Michigan State is favored by 13 at Stanford, Michigan is a two touchdown choice in entertaining Nebraska, Ohio State's No. 2 ranked Buckeyes are a plus 20 points at home over North Carolina. Wisconsin is a heavy favorite to repel traveling New

Also Predicts Win for Eagles

AP's Clary Picks Bays, Colts in Key Contests

NEW YORK (AP)—If Sonny Liston is looking for a new challenge now that he's won the heavyweight championship, we'd suggest he try to forecast the winners of the weekend's professional football games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Green Bay over Chicago—Packers are healthy, and defense is too robust for Bears, who have halfbacks Willie Galimore and Charley Bivins on the buttered list along with fullback Rick Casares and end Mike Ditka.

Baltimore over Detroit—Lions' Milt Plum has to cool off from 72 per cent completion average, and Colts quarterback Johnny Unitas has answer to Detroit's ferocious line with his better-than-ever passing.

Philadelphia over Cleveland—Eagles are due for victory and best way against Browns is Jurgensen to McDonald-Retzlaff combo that goes quicker and farther than Jimmy Brown-Tom Wilson Cleveland ground game.

Dallas over Los Angeles—Cowboys finally put all their offensive guns together, led by passing of Eddie LeBaron and running of Don Perkins. Rams miss Jon Arnett.

St. Louis over Washington—Cards too strong for 'Skins despite Bobby Mitchell magic that helped beat Cleveland last week. Crow running and Etcheverry passing should tell tale.

San Francisco over Minnesota—After two losses, 49ers and John Brodie find heyday they're looking for against Vikings defensive backfield.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York over Denver—Titans Lee Grosscup and halfback Dick Christy produce offense Bulldog Turner's been looking for.

San Diego over Oakland—Even without Jackie Kemp at quarterback Chargers are set to roll once more in Western division after Houston debacle.

Buffalo over Dallas—Bills have been just missing, but all their new faces are getting to kow one another, and they have defense to cope with speedy Texans.

Larry Lenz Hits Season High 272 Singleton

Ray Sears Slams 650 Series to Top Industrial League

Larry Lenz blasted a 272 game, and Ray Sears had a 650 series to share honors in the Industrial League at Hahn's Wednesday night.

Lenz' single game count was the best turned in by an Appleton kegler this season. He finished with a 641 series. Sears had a 225 game with the high set.

Blaese Hits 557

Roger Blaese posted a 557 series to lead the Merchant's League at the 41 Bowl Wednesday night.

Schulz Concrete (9-3) is in first place and the only other honor scores were a 551 by Fritz Frieders and a 555 by Jim Agen.

No honor counts were recorded in the Valley Iron Works League at the Barn Tavern alleys. Bendix (5-1) is the league leader.

Captain Reed Williams was second to Cornell's Bill Dressel, conference champion. Picking up fifth, sixth and seventh place finishes for Lawrence were Bill Holzworth, sophomore Al Parker and Dick Gram.

Hortonville High School took over third place in the Little Nine Conference with a 16-6 victory over Shiocton at the loser's field Thursday night.

Omro lost out on a chance to move into the third place spot when Denmark came from behind in the fourth period to earn a 13-13 tie.

Hortonville scored a pair of touchdowns in the second half after holding a slim 2-0 margin at the intermission. A safety was recorded in the second period when a Shiocton punt was blocked and down by a Chief player in the end zone.

Wayne Winters scored the first touchdown for the Polar Bears when he went over from the 2, capping a 55-yard drive. Winters also ran the point over.

Marcks Scores

Shiocton marched 62 yards in the fourth period to score with fullback Dean Marcks going over from the 3 for the TD. The point try failed to make the score 9-6. Late in the final period, Bill Ogden scored for Hortonville on a 10-yard end sweep. Winters added the point on a dive.

Omro and Denmark played a see-saw game with Omro scoring in the opening quarter when Bob Olkiewicz counted on a 17-yard run. The point try was low. Denmark came back in the second period via a strong passing attack and took the lead when Leon Rassmussen passed nine yards to Tom Schumacher for the touchdown and Rassmussen kicked the extra point to make it 7-6.

Omro again took the lead in the third period when Bob Loe raced 8 yards to score. This time Olkiewicz booted the point after for a 13-6 lead.

Denmark went to the air again in the fourth period and Rassmussen capped a 68-yard drive by scoring from the seven on a run. The try for the winning point was blocked.

Denmark had a touchdown called back in the second period. Rassmussen fired a 15-yard pass in the end zone to Tom Valentyne but a penalty nullified the play.

Rassmussen tried 28 passes for Denmark and had 17 completions for 136 yards. Omro had a 150 to 62-yard advantage on the ground.

Knights Meet Northland '11'

Dave Simon of Little Chute to Start on Defense

DE PERE — St. Norbert College goes after its fourth straight win of the season Saturday night when the Knights play host to Northland College at the J. R. Minahan Stadium. Kickoff is at 8 p.m.

Northland brings a 1-1 record into the game. The Lumberjacks won their opener over Jamestown College of South Dakota, 25-6, but then lost to St. Cloud State College of Minnesota last weekend, 16-6.

St. Norbert coach Howie Kolstad has announced only one change in his starting lineup for this week's game: freshman tackle Dave Simon of Little Chute will be at defensive tackle in the place of injured George Hartmann of Elmhurst, Ill. Hartmann injured his knee in last week's 42-0 win over Lakeland, and will possibly be out for the remainder of the season.

The Knights will field a rushing offense that has rolled up 585 yards in three games, for an average of just under 200 yards per game. Four players have been averaging more than six yards per carry for St. Norbert thus far: fullback Larry Schoenberger of Oshkosh, (6.7 yards); halfback Len Jarock of Pulaski, (6.6 yards); fullback Roger Campshure of Green Bay, (6.2 yards); and halfback Mike Hoffmann of Chilton, (6.1 yards). Schoenberger leads in total yardage with 227 yards gained.

St. Norbert has a 3-0 record in the series with Northland. Last year at Northland the Knights scored a 41-14 victory, rolling up a total of 507 yards in the process.

Russia Surprises

Los Angeles May Have Strong Bid for 1968 Olympic Games

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1968 Olympic games, probably the greatest of all prestige sports events, are up for grabs.

Russia failed to put in a bid, to the great surprise of most observers, when the International Olympic Committee met in Moscow several months ago. It had been assumed the meeting would pave the way for awarding the Games to the Soviets.

The decision on the site must be made next month when the IOC meets in Nairobi, Kenya, Africa.

At least seven American cities are considering making a bid, but by Olympic rules the United States Olympic Committee must decide on only one and endorse its invitation.

Avery Brundage, international Olympic president, said that Portland, Ore., San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and New York are in the running. Probably the Los Angeles bid is the strongest. The 1932 Games were held there and were highly successful.

Mexico City and Buenos Aires are among the foreign cities eager to get the 1968 Games.

Mexico City can point to the 1955 Pan-American Games as proof of its ability to stage a big show, as well as demonstrating that the 1½ mile altitude does not materially hurt performances.

Buenos Aires almost beat out Melbourne for the 1956 Games.

Brundage said Lyons, France, as well as Paris, Vienna and Lausanne, Switzerland, are interested.

"Lausanne wants to stage the Games on a smaller scale, and maybe that wouldn't be such a bad idea," said Brundage.

The Olympic Games in recent years have become a vast business enterprise with cities such as Rome, where the 1960 Games were held, and Tokyo, where the 1964 Games will be staged, spending enormous amounts of money to stage them.

Kaukauna '11' Gains Second Frosh Victory

Madison, Wilson Battle to 6-6 Deadlock

FOX VALLEY FRESHMEN LEAGUE

Kaukauna	2	0	0	Menasha	0	1	0
Neenah	2	0	0	Wilson	0	1	1
Roosevelt	1	0	0	Kimberly	0	2	0
Madison	0	1	1

Thursday's Results:
Madison 6, Wilson 6 (tie).
Neenah 41, Menasha 0.
Kaukauna 6, Kimberly 0.

Kaukauna and Neenah won their second straight football games in Fox Valley Freshman League action Thursday afternoon.

Kaukauna scored in the final seconds of the first half to defeat Kimberly, 6-0, and Neenah overpowered Menasha, 41-0. Madison and Wilson played to a 6-all tie. Roosevelt received a bye in the second week of play.

Madison and Wilson battled to their stand-off at the Madison Junior High School field.

Wilson drove to a touchdown in the first period with the help of a long pass from Jeff Brusch to Jeff Huttenburg. Ed Olson rammed over from the 2-yard line.

The defensive battle raged into the fourth period. Madison threatened early in the stanza, when Gene Merrick intercepted a pass and raced to the Wilson 12 but the Wildcats held on four plays.

Madison finally scored with a Ron Brinkman - to - Dick Erickson pass producing the touchdown. Runs by both teams on the extra-point plays were stopped.

Bob Promer, a standout for Kaukauna throughout the game, picked off a Kimberly pass with seconds left in the half and raced 60 yards for the only score.

Fumbles and pass interceptions hurt drives by both teams and most of the action was confined between the 25-yard lines. Kaukauna recovered a Papermaker fumble on the Kimberly 28 in the third period but lost the ball on downs.

Alabama Meets Tulane '11' Tonight

Other Nationally-Ranked Teams Swing Into Grid Action Saturday

BY BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Paul Bryant is a large, dour man whose size and disposition won him the nickname "Bear," as in "grumpy as a Bear." He has been known to belie the name, however, and smile and even say nice things about his football team.

But not at this time of the year. Only when it's all wrapped up for the season. So it's no great surprise that he is less than enthusiastic, at least outwardly, about Alabama's chances as he sends his Crimson Tide against Tulane tonight.

A simple quote from the Bear:

"Tulane's going to knock off some people this year, and it'll probably be us."

It could be he's right, but the odds are against it. Alabama is the defending National Champion and ranked No. 1 in the country on the basis of its 35-0 rout of Georgia in each team's opener last week. Tulane, coming off a 2-8 season last year, lost its opener to Stanford 6-3.

And then there's Joe Namath. Namath was one of the most sought schoolboys in the nation two years ago and one of the highest touted sophomores in the country this season. He lived up to the billing in grand shape in his first varsity game, hitting on 10 of 14 passes for 174 yards and three touchdowns.

More Than Threat

His performance gave the promise of passing attack that is more than a threat, something of a rarity on a Bryant-coached team. Heading Bear's usual devastating ground game is Ray Ogden, a 218 pound, 6 foot 5 halfback.

The loss of fullback Mike Fracchia was supposed to be a crippling blow to the Tide, but it wasn't evident last week. The defense, best in nation last season, indicated it's going to be as hard-nosed as ever.

On the other side, there's the fact that Tulane generally plays one of its best games against Bama. In the last eight meetings, Tulane has won three, tied two and last season held the all-winners Tide to its lowest score of the season, 9-0.

Virginia Military visits Richmond in the only other major game tonight.

Saturday, Ohio State, ranked second in the nation, and sixth ranked Michigan State open their seasons. North Carolina visits Ohio State while Michigan State visits Stanford.

All other nationally-ranked teams have 1-0 records for the season, and each figures to improve Saturday. They include Texas (No. 3) at Texas Tech, Air Force at Penn State (No. 4), Rice at Louisiana State (No. 5), Kentucky at Mississippi (No. 7), Georgia Tech (No. 8) at Florida, Southern California (No. 9) at Southern Methodist and Missouri (No. 10) at Minnesota.

Among the other major attractions are Notre Dame at Oklahoma, in the national television game of the week, Syracuse vs. Army at New York, South Carolina at Duke, Tulsa at Arkansas and Illinois at Washington.

Marion Horn Cards 570 'Classic' Set

Marion Horn spilled a 570 series, including a 207 game, in the Women's Classic League at the 41 Bowl earlier this week.

Shirley Helser had a 502; Leone Uetzmann, 516; Ellyn Beck, 512; Ann Hocevar, 504; Pat Lotz, 518; Pat Van Hulle, 518; Ethona Reichert, 500; and Rita Mikkleson, 195.

The 41 Bowl team holds a slim 1-game edge in the team standings with an 8-4 record.

Barbara Derks smashed a 23 singleton in the Women's Lucky League on Monday. Margaret Zebren had a 503 for the only other honor score.

30,000 Geese Reported on State Refuges

MADISON (AP) — The State Conservation Department reported today it expects there will be some 30,000 Canada geese on hand Monday for the opening of the Wisconsin refuge goose hunting season.

Official counts made the last two days put the number of Horicon refuge honkers at more than 21,000 and those at Necedah at about 5,000. More birds were coming in to fix the estimate in the 30,000 category.

Jim Bell, state refuge manager, said the geese have established feeding flights during the morning and afternoon and range generally within four miles of the refuge.

Steelers Sign Lou Cordileone

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League said Thursday they have obtained lineman Lou Cordileone on waivers from the Los Angeles Rams.

Cordileone, 25, is a former top draft choice of the New York Giants and will be used as an offensive guard or defensive tackle against his old teammates at Pitt Stadium Sunday.

A 6-foot, 250-pound native of Jersey City, N.J., Cordileone graduated from Clemson in 1960.

To make room for Cordileone, the Steelers asked waivers on tackle John Kennerson, a rookie from Kentucky State.

San Francisco Third baseman Harvey Kuenn jumps high trying to grab teammate Matty Alou's throw from right field. Finley Outlines A's Needs to KC Officials

Wants Stadium And More Baseball Fans

BOSTON (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics need a new stadium and stronger support, says clubowner Charles Finley. If he doesn't get them Finley may sell out.

The affable executive did some plain talking Thursday after a three-way huddle here with Kansas City government representatives and American League officials headed by President Joe Cronin.

Finley repeated a previous statement that he never has requested the franchise be moved from Kansas City.

"The ball club definitely will be in Kansas City in 1963 and, as far as I know, in 1964," Finley said.

Don't Want to Leave

"I don't want to leave Kansas City. The fans are terrific. But we need more of them. I don't care where we play ball, the point is we're going to need support. I'm scratching the bottom of the barel. I'm not going to stay in it until I'm bankrupt."

Cronin, along with Baltimore and Boston club officials, went over figures on the cost of building ball parks with Finley, vice president Pat Friday of the A's; Tom Gavin, mayor pro-tem of Kansas City and the city council finance committee chairman; Ken Krakauer of the Kansas City chamber of commerce and two attorneys.

"Our next move will be to compare the costs of improving facilities of the present park with those of building a new one, Krakauer said.

Finleys insistence that perfect harmony has always existed between the As and the city council was supported when Gavin, heading for a plane, said in parting, "Let me go home, Charley, and see if we can get you a new ball park.

League Role

Cronin said the league role was that of "an observation booth." He added it was a matter for Finley and city officials to work out but that the AL has "an obligation to Mr. Finley as the owner and knows a good ball club helps the economy of Kansas City."

A drop in attendance of approximately 40,000 over a year ago and a sharp rise in costs have made necessary certain economy measures including the release of at least seven scouts and a cutdown in home office personnel, Finley said. He added the measure may trim $250,000 off expenses.

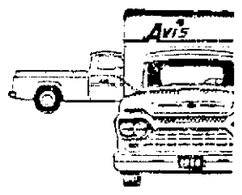

He cited losses last year of $812,000 of which the cash loss was $214,000 and the balance player depreciation. This year, he said, he expects the loss to reach nearly $1 million of which about $800,000 will be cash.

WORCESTER, Mass. — Johnny Bean, 131, Philadelphia, knocked out Paddy Read, 133, Providence, 8.

Paul Arizin Won't Play for Warriors In 1962-3 Season

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Paul Arizin, 10-year veteran of the San Francisco Warriors, told General Manager Eddie Gottlieb by telephone Wednesday that he definitely would be unable to play for the National Basketball Association team this year.

Gottlieb, who praised Arizin as one of basketball's greatest shooters, said the 34-year-old veteran's decision was not surprising, inasmuch as he had a difficult time inducing him to play in Philadelphia last season.

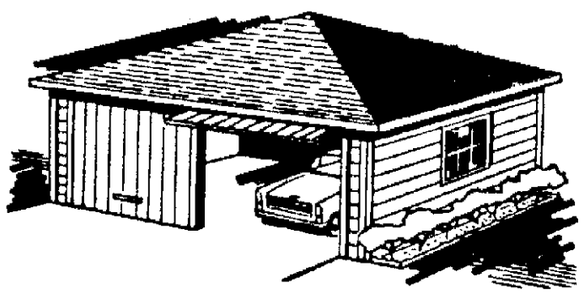

Arizin, who averaged 22.6 points a game during his 10 year pro career, said his age and his employment in Philadelphia precluded moving his family to San Francisco.

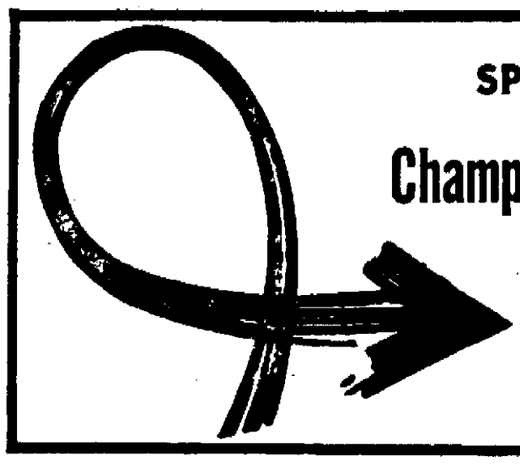

He said he would play on weekends only for the Camden Bullets of the Eastern League.

In the NL's only other game Dennis Bennett fired a five-hitter as the sizzling Philadelphia Phils won for the 19th time in their last 24 games, 7-0 over Chicago.

Final Weekend

The American League resumes competition today after taking Thursday off with several positions in the standings still to be decided in the final weekend of the season. Right hander Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox gunning for his 300th career victory, faces the champion Yankees at New York tonight. Los Angeles is at Cleveland for a two-night doubleheader and Baltimore is at Minnesota and Kansas City at Detroit for day games. Washington and Boston are idle.

Even in defeat the Dodgers were heartened by the work of Sandy Koufax, their left handed strikeout specialist who is just rounding into form after a two month layoff due to circulation trouble in the index finger of his pitching hand. He went five innings before he tired, set down the first 11 Colts in order, struck out four and allowed three hits including a two-run homer by Roman Mejias in the fifth that cut the Dodger lead to 3-2.

But the Dodgers' vaunted relief hooped on Roebuck and Sherry for four hits and then four runs in the sixth, taking a 6-4 lead and after Los Angeles rallied for a tie in the bottom of the inning, Houston scrambled ahead again in the seventh against Perranoski.

The Colts did the decisive damage on Carl Warwick's infield hit, an error by Daryl Spencer, a bunt single by Al Spangler, a force play and a ground out.

Gains Fourth Win

Umbricht took over with the bases filled and none out in the sixth and wound up with his fourth victory in as many decisions. He gave up three hits and a walk, but turned back repeated Dodger threats.

Maury Wills, Willie and Tommy Davis, and Frank Howard had 10 of the 14 Los Angeles hits and led the Dodgers to their early lead.

The Cardinal lost little time taking charge against the Giants, rapping Billy O'Dell for two runs in the 1st inning, on singles by Curt Flood, Mike Shannon, Bill White and Charlie Lau, Oliver's double play ground ball and Tim Washburn's single gave St. Louis another run in the fourth. Then came the Cards' big fifth climaxed by Oliver's big hit.

Musial, White and Lau all singled for one run, Javier, O'Dell and Oliver smacked hits with homer against reliever Don Larsen. Washburn was tagged for a three-run pinch homer by Ed Bailey in the seventh and after walking the next two batters, gave way to Bobby Shantz. The little southpaw finished up striking out five and permitting two hits, both in the ninth.

Willie Mays had a embarrassing afternoon. The Giant star doubled home his club's first run in the sixth and moved on to third on a grounder. When Orlando Cepeda fanned, Willie thinking it was the third out, dashed off third toward center field and was tagged out. And in the last of the ninth with two on, Mays went up representing the potential tying run and was fanned by Shantz for the final out.

Wrigley Field's smallest crowd of the year, 617, watched the 22-year-old Bennett deal the Cubs their 102nd loss and 14th shutout this season. Bennett struck out six and walked three. Tony Taylor and Roy Sievers collected three hits each for the Phillies and Clay Dalrymple homered.

Illinois Faces Rugged Foe

Mexico State and Indiana has a good edge on Cincinnati.

Northwestern, which crushed South Carolina 37-20 last week, and Purdue are idle. All other teams except Indiana will be making their start. The Hoosiers have a 21-0 licking of Kansas State under their belts.

Experienced Team

Stanford with a 6-3 decision of Tulane behind it, is an experienced big team. The Spartan backfield will have Pete Smith at quarterback, Sherm Lewis, tailback, Dewey Lincoln, wingback, and fullback George Saimes. All were in action a year ago when MSU trounced the Indiana 31-3.

Quarterback Matt Szykowny is the exploiter of Iowa's new floating T attack. Passer-runner Terry Baker leads Oregon State, which last week defeated Iowa State 30-15.

Ohio State will have an all lettterman offensive platoon of eight backs and three juniors to send against the Tar Heels, who were beaten 7-6 by North Carolina State. At least five sophomores are in the Buckeye defensive unit.

Nebraska is returning to Michigan for the first time in 45 years and is bolstered by a 53-0 romp over South Dakota.

Mickey Wright Leads Pro-Amateur Tourney

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Mickey Wright shot a 2-under-par 70 Thursday to take a three-stroke lead in the first round of the $9,000 Mickey Wright Pro-Amateur Invitational Golf Tournament.

The blonde 27-year-old San Diegan had five birdies and three bogies for 34-36 on the 6,496-yard Mission Valley course. Tied for runner-up with 73s were Joann Prentice, Patty Berg, Cathy Whitworth and Mary Mills. Jacqueline Pung shot a 74.

Jim Campbell Promoted by Detroit Tigers

Becomes Club's General Manager; Eyes Improvement

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Campbell, young and aggressive, jumped into his new job as the Detroit Tigers' general manager by making no pennant promises.

Improvement of a fifth-place team that had been expected to challenge the New York Yankees for the 1962 American League championship is the first step, Campbell said. A future pennant is the Tigers' ultimate goal.

"I feel a team can't say it had a successful season unless it wins the pennant," Campbell said after his promotion Thursday. "A team can make progress. But the only successful club this year was the Yankees—and they won it."

The 36-year old veteran baseball executive assumed the general manager's duties performed the last two seasons by Vice President Rick Ferrell. Campbell has been a club vice president himself since 1959 and was placed in charge of the Tigers' minor league operations in 1960. Ferrell was retained in a new capacity as player evaluator.

Rumors persisted here that Ferrell's duties would be changed because of the Tigers' poor season. Detroit hasn't won a pennant since 1945 and was considered a prime contender this year after a surprise second-place finish in 1961.

Will Make Changes

"I realize we have to make changes and we're going to make make changes," said Campbell who last played baseball as an outfielder at Ohio State in the 1940s.

"We haven't won a pennant in many, many years and this is our ultimate goal. But we're not going to try to move mountains, we're not going to rush in and cut our throats by making changes for the sake of making them.

"First, we have to get to know every other teams' players as well as ours. We're going to make changes, but we're going to do it in an orderly fashion."

Campbell was given all-inclusive duties by president John E. Fetzer, who became outright owner two years ago. The club has not had a general manager in the since Fetzer disposed of Bill DeWitt, president-general manager in 1960.

"Campbell will be No. 1 man to report to me," Fetzer said. "Who's going to make the trades? This will be Jim Campbell."

Manager Bob Scheffing, whose contract runs through next season, has said the club needs considerable help for next season, especially in the infield.

"I don't care to comment right now on what kind of improvements we seek," Campbell said. "But of course, we can't be satisfied with an infield that makes as many errors as ours."

Third base and shortstop have been the positions on Scheffing's most-wanted list.

Succeeds Campbell

Don Lund, 39, succeeded his close friend, Campbell, as director of the Tigers' minor league operations. Lund, a former Tiger player and coach, was coach of Michigan's baseball team for four years. His 1962 team won the NCAA championship.

Moby Benedict, Lund's assistant, was reported first in line for the vacant Michigan post.

Wetzer announced the retirement of Harry M. Sisson, a Tiger executive vice president, at the end of next season. Sisson handled the Tigers' business affairs. Alex Callam, a Detroit accountant, was appointed business manager and eventually will take over Sisson's duties.

Campbell worked his way up from the bottom of the Detroit organization. He joined the Tigers in 1949 as business manager of a class D farm club. He became business manager of the farm system in 1952. In 1956, he became farm director and later business manager before advancing to a vice president's post.

Erdman Hits 604 Series in Grocers' Loop

Eric Erdman manufactured a 604 series and Keith Gehring smashed a 245 game in the Grocers League at the 41 Bowl Thursday night. Gehring finished with a 587 set.

Other honor counts were registered by G. Hannemann, 234, 573; Mike Dorow, 551, and Lee Sheblske, 551. WAPL tops the team standings with an 11-5 mark.

Actor John Lasell and actress Ellen Weston are shown in a scene from the comedy, "Mary, Mary," Variety Theatre production coming to Appleton High School Saturday night. The stage play is being sponsored by Appleton Gallery of Arts. Curtain time is 8:20 p.m.

Busy Night in Hospitals on TV Channels

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—It sure was a busy night in television's obstetrical wards.

"Dr. Kildare," starting his new season on NBC, was having his troubles with a patient soon to experience motherhood. Two nurses, a couple of channels away on CBS were handling everything from births and deaths to emotional problems with only occasional assists from the doctors.

I stayed with "The Nurses," a new series quite obviously inspired by the successful doctor stories. The opening show concentrated on hectic events during one busy night in the maternity ward manned primarily by wise, kindly head nurse Thorpe, and idealistic, dedicated student nurse Lucas (Shirl Conway and Zina Bethune).

It will be an interesting series—if you aren't getting a little weary of stethoscopes, operating room scenes, intimate clinical descriptions, medical jargon and all that jazz.

And speaking of jazz, Andy Williams also turned up Thursday night with a smooth, sleek and delightfully melodic variety hour on NBC. Andy sings well, has an easy, low pressure style and had lots of help from Peggy Lee and George Gobel. This looks like a winner.

ABC Season Gets Started With Close-Up

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — ABC the last of three networks to begin its new season, trots out two programs tonight. First is 'Close-Up', the series of half-hour documentaries which goes a full hour for its seasonal premiere. This is a first-hand look at the Soviet educational system, the result of three weeks of "guided but uncensored filming," as writer Robert Lewis Shayon told TV Scout. You'll spend the hour with a student in School No. 6 in Moscow, where he learns English (you'll hear him recite a poem), studies ballet and art and has fun like any 15-year-old. Talks with the school principal and the boy's grandfather give a picture of how education in the Soviet Union has changed in three generations.

* * *

8-8:30 (Channel 11) — Despite its unwieldy title, I'm Dickens . . . He's Fenster is a wieldy show. You'll meet two talented comedy actors, Marty Ingels and John Astin, in a well-written venture. They play carpenters but this is not the hammered-thumb type of carpenter humor, although there is a kind of controlled slapstick.

* * *

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — International Showtime adds some real life thrills to the usual circus make-believe this week. Taping a circus in Orebro, Sweden, they were shooting a high wire act. An elderly performer slipped and caught the wire with his finger tips 40 feet off the ground. You'll see his rescue by members of his troupe and some good close-ups of performers and audience watching.

* * *

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — Route 66 turns to comedy this week and they do it very smoothly. Martin Milner and George Maharis run into Buster Keaton, as a sad man whose life lives up to his name — Jonah. Tod and Buz undertake to break his spell of bad luck. Meanwhile, back in town, Keaton's brother (Joe E. Brown) is in jail charged with theft.

* * *

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Oil up the old vocal cords, it's time to Sing Along With Mitch again. Mitch Miller has his same old gang of singers, dancers and soloists (Leslie Uggams, Gloria Lambert and Louise O'Brien), but there have been a few minor changes. There will be surprise guests each week in the sing-along segment. Highlights this week: Bob McGrath with "Villa", Leslie Uggams and "Begin the Beguine", Gloria Lambert singing "Them There Eyes." (Color)

* * *

8:30-9:30 (Channel 2) — Fair Exchange continues with its parallel situation comedies. Tonight the English girl (Judy Carne) now living in the U.S. and the American girl now in England (Lynn Loring) go through almost identical experiences in pursuing trouble with her dramatic career in London. Miss Carne with her business career in New York.

* * *

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Comedy is the main item of business on The Jack Paar Program this week. Victor Borge and Jackie Mason will be Jack's guests. Jack will show more films of his South Pacific trip, this time centering around Guadalcanal, where he spent some time during World War II. (Color)

* * *

10:20-12 (Channel 4-5) — Tonight's substitute programming ends with Tony Bennett, Pat Suzuki, Lou Parker and Betty Kean and the Four Step Brothers as guests. Johnny Carson starts his regular show Monday. (Color)

Lawrence Faculty Trio To Open Recital Season

Chamber Music Performance Set For Sunday Night at Harper Hall

Lawrence Conservatory's recital season opens Sunday night with a faculty chamber music performance at 8:15 p.m. in Harper Hall of the Music-Drama Center. The program is free to the public.

Miss Mann

Patricia Mann, flutist Frances Clarke Rehl, cellist, and Theodore Rehl, pianist, have prepared a program with music of Hadn, Hindemith, and a lesser-known contemporary composer, Bohuslav Martinu.

Miss Mann, instructor in flute and admissions counselor at the conservatory, was principal flutist with the Birmingham (Ala.) Symphony Orchestra between 1955 and 1961. She has studied with August Witteborg and William Kincaid. A former Fulbright scholar, she joined the Lawrence faculty in 1961.

Mr. and Mrs. Rehl studied at Oberlin Conservatory of Music and are working toward advanced music degrees at the University of Indiana during their summer recesses.

Mrs. Rehl, who has played in metropolitan orchestras in Idaho, Washington and Wisconsin, held an assistantship in 'cello at Oberlin in 1952. She is a lecturer in music at Lawrence. Her husband, an assistant professor of music there, has been soloist with the Little Orchestra Society of New York, and a particularly active performer on the Lawrence concert calendar.

Mrs. Rehl — Rehl

The program includes a "D Major Trio" of Haydn, written in 1790, and a 1922 "Sonata for Cello and Piano" by Paul Hindemith. Martinu's "Trio" is typical of the neo-romantic style of the Czech composer. It has a lush vitality and often unusual technical qualities.

Sunday's complete program follows.

DEAR CY

Sometimes I worry about whether I really am made for this job I m with a big company and a good one But I have to do so much boot licking for the officers of the company and their wives it makes me sick My wife thinks whatever I am doing is fine so long as I make a good salary What I would like to do is get out of this trap and stop being such a yes man My age is now 42 What do you predict? Will I ever get out of this self suppressing job

AL H

DEAR AL H

Reading tea leaves is not my department But the answer to your question is so obvious I ll respond You traded your soul for this job You are making money though personally submerged and don t have the courage to make a break Even at 52 you wouldn t have changed Now with your wife set against a move don t expect to look that guy in the eye when shaving

Market Makes Sharp Recovery

Trading Active On Wall Street During Morning

NEW YORK (AP — The stock market rallied making a fairly sharp recovery in moderately active trading early this afternoon

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1 0 at 214 7 with industrials up 2 3 rails up 2 and utilities up 1

Prices moved unevenly at the start but as they refused to give way traders became more confident and enough buying set in to push up the average

Steels motors chemical oils some of the growth stocks and selected issues moved higher

Gains of most key stocks were fractional but some picked up a point or two

Support Develops

Brokers said that support developed just above the closing low of the July 18 reaction where it had been hoped for

The rally came as something of a surprise Not only is caution normal on a preweekend session but the high Jewish holy days begin at sundown and this usually ushers in several days of cautious and frequently lower markets

Among the growth issues moves were wider as usual IBM recouping about 5 points of its recent big slide Xerox regaining about 3 and Litton Industries more than a point

A recovery of 2 or so by Union Carbide more than 1 by Eastman Kodak and 1 by Consolidated Edison helped the averages

The top four steelmakers all added fractions while Lukens Steel rose about 1

Ahead about 1 were United Aircraft Sears Roebuck General Electric Johns Manville and General Motors

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5 15 at 579 27

KAUKAUNA—City and state police conducted a traffic safety check and found 25 defects on 17 cars of the 80 vehicles checked.

Argonne Semester Program Has Been Boon to Lawrence

Midwest Colleges Augment Their Science Courses at Research Lab

A dramatically successful experiment in making college students work and think like scientists has been reported by the Associated College of the Midwest.

The experiment is known as the Argonne Semester program. The occasion for the report is the beginning of the program's third year.

As scientific research has become more complex and expensive, faculty members in small liberal arts colleges have frequently found themselves at a disadvantage in conducting advanced scientific studies. Science students, too, in such colleges may be able to obtain only a limited experience with the tools and techniques of contemporary research.

These considerations led the Associated Colleges of the Midwest (of which Lawrence College is a member) in 1959 to approach the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory near Chicago, one of the world's foremost centers for research in peaceful uses of atomic energy, to discuss the possibility of giving selected faculty members as well as third and fourth-year college students an opportunity to work with Argonne scientists on nuclear projects. The Argonne Laboratory, traditionally concerned with education as well as research, responded enthusiastically, and a program for faculty and students was inaugurated in the fall of 1960.

Spent Time

During the first stage of the program three faculty members, one each in biology, chemistry and physics, spent 15 months at Argonne. Each devoted two summers to research as a member of the Argonne staff.

During the intervening school year the three divided their time between research and supervision of the academic work of the Argonne Semester students. Twenty students, including Lawrentians David Bray, Sheboygan Falls, and Anne Pelizzoni, Tulsa, Okla., took part in the program.

They spent half their time as research assistants to Argonne staff scientists. The other half of their time was divided between individual or small group studies in major science fields and an interdisciplinary seminar. Each student received a semester of resident academic credit at his home institution.

Part of the first year's program, too, was a ten-college ACM conference at Argonne to acquaint science faculty members with the Argonne plant and the progress of the Semester program. There are about 100 buildings at Argonne and scientific equipment valued at more than $42 million.

Got Grant

A grant to the Associated Colleges of the Midwest from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation covered an important part of the costs of the program for the first year. The Argonne National Laboratory paid salaries to faculty and students under its Research Associates and Student Aides program.

During the second year of the Argonne Semester, the plan was changed slightly. Each of the 23 participating students undertook an independent research problem closely related to the work of his Argonne staff supervisor and wrote a formal report at the end of the semester. These reports, edited and duplicated at the Laboratory, were distributed to the dean and the major department chairman at the student's home college.

Lawrence students involved in the second year's program were Thomas Steitz, Wauwatosa, who wrote a paper "Concerning the Formulation and Oxidation State of Some Thorium Compounds" under the supervision of Leonard I. Katzin; and Robert Waterman, Fort Atkinson, whose research was done on "Electron Microscopic Studies on the Giant Amoeba Pelomyxa illinoisensis." His supervisor was Edward W. Daniels. Both students gave public lectures on their research after they returned to the campus for the second semester.

As in the first year, the course work taken at Argonne consisted of an interdisciplinary seminar and a major seminar in either biology, chemistry or physics.

More Attend

During the second year of the program, Lawrence College was further represented on the faculty research and teaching staff at Argonne. Teymoor Gedayloo of the Lawrence physics department was one of the three professors from ACM programs to spend 15 months at Argonne. The two summers were devoted to research, while during the winter months they supervised the student program. Gedayloo has returned to Lawrence this fall.

A survey made last spring indicated that all 31 students who had spent a semester at Argonne were either enrolled or admitted to graduate school or medical school. Miss Pelizzoni and Bray are both at Washington University Medical School, Steitz is at Harvard in the chemistry department, and Waterman is studying zoology at Columbia University.

Several students have presented papers on their Argonne research before the Iowa-Illinois Undergraduate Science Conference. Others have published the results of their Argonne research in the "Proceedings of the Iowa Academy of Science," "The Argonne News Bulletin," and "Analytical Chemistry." Argonne students are co-authors of articles (not based on Argonne research) in the "Journal of Organic Chemistry" and the "Journal of Physical Chemistry."

Of the 43 students who took part in the program during its first two years, three continued some part of their Argonne research at their home colleges and 22 returned to the Laboratory as student aides to continue their research during the summer.

Program Continues

In January, the Associated Colleges of the Midwest received a grant of $46,830 from the National Science Foundation to promote the Argonne Semester Program during the next three years.

At present, as the third year of the Argonne plan gets under way, two Lawrence students are taking part: Erlan Bliss of Delavan, and Bronson Hall of Highland Park, Ill.

Two Lawrence faculty members, in addition to Gedayloo, have been involved in the project. Dr. Sumner Richman of the biology department is a member of the Argonne Semester Committee; while Dr. Stephen F. Darling of the chemistry department is a member of the ACM-Argonne Selections Committee.

UW Senate Asks for Delay in Banning Delta Gamma Sorority

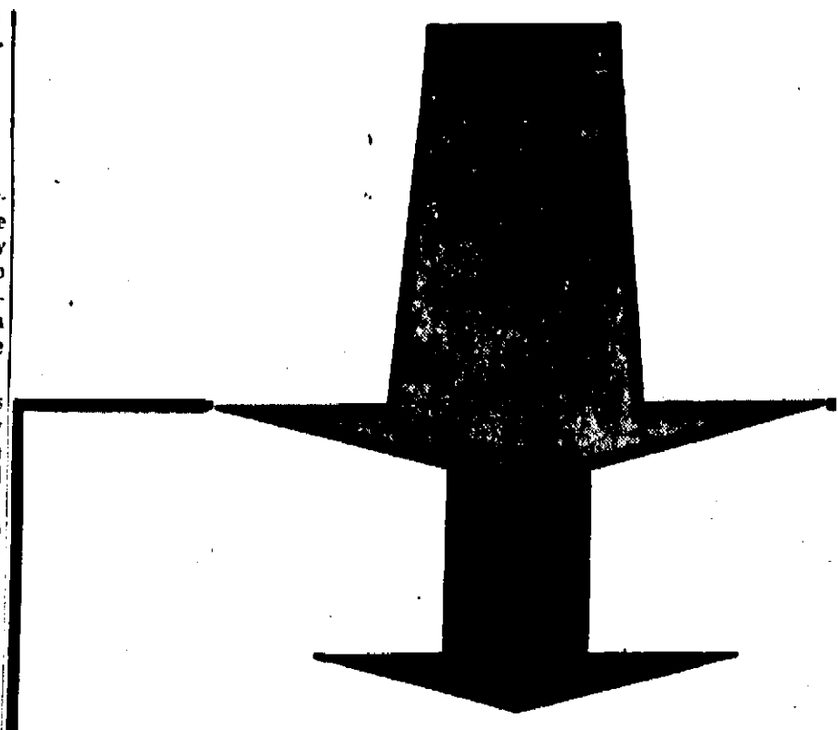

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin student senate adopted a resolution Wednesday night asking the UW faculty to delay consideration of a recommendation that Delta Gamma sorority be banned from the campus.

The delay, for a month, seeks more time to study the faculty recommendation. The resolution now goes to the student life and interest committee.

A faculty meeting agenda item Monday includes a recommendation from the human rights committee that Delta Gamma chapter be banned by June 30 for alleged racial discrimination on the part of its national organization.

Food Shortage Hit

More than 798,000 head of livestock, fowl and miscellaneous animals were exported from Wisconsin during the fiscal year July 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962, according to Dr. A. A. Erdmann, chief state-federal veterinarian of the Wisconsin Dept. of Agriculture.

Conservation Men Set Training Site

Surveyors, Soil Service personnel and agents from Outagamie, Winnebago, Fond du Lac and Brown counties will meet Oct. 16 for a training session on subdivision layout and soil characteristics.

Outagamie County Agent John E. Powers said the program is being called to help individuals recognize good and poor sites for development of lots and subdivisions. Site for the meeting will be the Winters subdivision on State 76, a half mile south of Greenville. The state recently turned down the proposed plan because of improper soil conditions.

In the morning a field trip will be conducted to show soil characteristics, water tables and percolation, high and low levels of water at different periods and use of a soil profile.

During the afternoon, agents Conservation and SCS personnel will meet at Silver Dome to plan a future program for realtors in their areas. Surveyors will be laying out a course and making test holes as part of their instruction.

Powers said the next day he will invite county realtors, persons planning subdivisions and city officials and employees to attend a similar training program.

Numerous Mice in Orchards Could Mean Trouble This Year

Reports indicate that there are enough mice in Wisconsin orchards to do a lot of damage again this year, says George Klingbeil, University of Wisconsin fruit specialist. Growers will probably prevent losses due to "girdling", if they begin control measures immediately after harvest.

Klingbeil suggests several methods of control. Poison baits such as strychnine treated oats, or grain and apple cubes treated with zinc phosphide give effective control. Place the baits in runways, or on bait stations made of squares of roofing material.

Protect Trees

Protect all young trees with one-quarter inch mesh hardware cloth to a height of 18 inches or more. Form it in a tube around the trunk, but provide room for expansion.

Since mice prefer to feed under the cover of vegetation, you may protect trees by destroying the vegetation within a three foot radius of the trunk. You may choose to do it mechanically, or use chemicals.

Where mice populations are very high, it may be advisable to use the insecticide endrin as a ground spray. Endrin is a deadly rodenticide, but must be used with caution. Use no more than 2.5 pounds of actual endrin per acre of orchard floor. Don't apply it over the entire orchard floor, just in bands under the drip line of the trees. If possible, spray barrier rows between the orchard and surrounding fields rather than treat the orchard. Don't spray sections that drain directly into streams or ponds. Place warning posters around the orchard.

Operating Farms Decline in Number

Six-County Survey Shows Drop From 262 to 147 in 10-Year Period

You hear a lot of things these days about the vast changes under way in the structure of farms and farming.

Here are some figures on a selected group of Wisconsin farms that tell specifically what is going on.

The figures were compiled by a Wisconsin high school student working under the University of Wisconsin's summer science training program this past summer. Dennis Buege, a senior this fall at Juneau High School, worked with Peter Dorner, agricultural economist at the University.

Buege based his study on dairy farms in six Wisconsin counties. Three of them are in the east — Calumet, Manitowoc and Sheboygan. Three of them are in the west — Barron, Pierce and St. Croix. He analyzed figures gathered in 1950 and again in the same area in 1960.

One interesting comparison points to the decline in farms. Of 262 operating farms surveyed in 1950, only 189 were still operating in 1960. More than one fourth of the farms had gone out of business as separate units. Much of the land had been combined in neighboring farms. Some of the land was in the soil bank and some was idle.

The departure of farm operators was even larger. Out of the 262 original farmers, 147 were operating the same farms. That's a little over half. Many of the remaining families had increased their size of operations. Some 42 new families started farming in these areas during the decade of the 50's.

A second major interesting area studied by Buege concerned the size of the farms. He found, for example, that the small farm — under 80 acres — declined sharply. Eighty acres seemed to be the dividing point. All the larger size categories of farms showed an increase in number. For example, there were 87 farms in the 80 to 160-acre category in 1950 and 98 of them in 1960. Large farms — 320 acres and over — increased from 8 to 12 in the decade. The fastest growing size was in the 160 to 240-acre category.

Some 30 per cent of the farms expanded their acreage over the decade. Oddly enough those farms that did expand, started out as the smaller units. They averaged 127 acres in 1950. To make the comparison even odder, these same farms averaged 189 acres in 1960 and were then larger and had higher income than the farms that stood still or declined in size. Some 26 farms did decline in size.

Fewer farms.

Even faster changes of farm operators.

Increasing farm size.

Those farmers that do decide to increase their holdings are moving to the top in acreage as well as in income.

Pure Milk Has Election

Members Vote Second Term for Officers, Directors

CLINTONVILLE—All directors of the Clintonville Local of the Pure Milk Products Cooperative and the Ladies Auxiliary were re-elected Wednesday night at the annual meeting at the Clintonville City Hall.

Re-elected were Wilbert Kielbach, Tigerton, president; Herbert Dennison, Clintonville, vice president; Roy Kirchner, Clintonville, secretary-treasurer, and Gilbert Roepke, Clintonville, and William Pethke, Manawa, directors.

Kirchner was elected as delegate to the annual state convention Oct. 30 at Fond du Lac. Kielbach was named as a member of the advisory board.

Ladies Elected

Re-elected by the Ladies Auxiliary were Mrs. Kielbach, president; Mrs. Dennison, vice president; Mrs. Kirchner, secretary and treasurer; and Mrs. Roepke and Mrs. Gerald Krueger, Clintonville, directors. Mrs. Roepke was elected delegate and Mrs. Dennison, alternate, to the state convention.

William C. Eckles, Fond du Lac, general manager of Pure Milk Products Cooperative, spoke to the group.

Elmer Berry of the Grass Lake Cheese factory showed slides.

Oil-Base Sprays May Not Work

Dairymen who spray their cows with oil-base insecticides to protect them from stable flies in the pasture, may be wasting money, according to G. R. DeFoliart at the University of Wisconsin.

In a test last year DeFoliart tried 12 different formulations of seven commercially available oil-base cattle sprays and found that none repelled flies satisfactorily for even three hours.

Three of the formulations, Crag fly repellent, MGK repellent 1207 and a mixture of .1 per cent pyrethrins and 1 per cent piperonyl butoxide, gave some protection—ranging from 25 to 45 per cent. Even this limited control usually didn't last all day.

MGK repellent 326, Lethane, Vapona, Dibrom and Sevin in oil had little or no repellency, DeFoliart says.

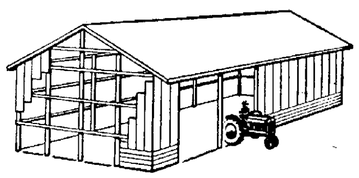

DeFoliart says many oil-base sprays sold to farmers contain less active ingredients than his test sprays did. Most farmers probably do not put them on as heavily as he did, making the chances of their getting good control even slimmer. DeFoliart applied the sprays at a rate of 2 ounces per cow, just after the morning milking.

Current tests with longer lasting, water-base insecticide formulations look more promising than those with the oil-base sprays, DeFoliart says. Both Sevin and SD4294 gave excellent horn fly control when applied at weekly intervals.

Government Reports Rural Living Standards

BY OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The electric light has become so common through the rural countryside that it has been dropped by the agriculture department as a criterion of the way farm people live.

This was disclosed in a report of a 1959 survey — the last made — which showed Arizona, California, Nevada and Iowa farmers ranked highest levels of living. It said Mississippi, Arkansas, Alabama and West Virginia ranked lowest.

The department has been making such surveys every ten years, based largely on information gathered by census takers. They help point out areas of progress and retrogression for use in fashioning various farm programs.

Up until 1954, the formula for determining living levels used these factors: (1) percentage of farms with electricity, (2) percentage of farms with telephones (3) percentage of farms with automobiles, and (4) average value of products sold or traded per farm.

But in the 1959 study, the electricity criterion was abandoned because, the department said, it has become almost universal on U.S. farms.

Showed Level

The department's concept of levels refers to actual living conditions and differs from the standard of living concept which, the agency said, relates to living conditions aspired to and which are regarded as proper and desirable.

The new formula for determining living levels included: (1) average values of sales per farm, (2) average value of land and buildings per farm, (3) percentage of farms with telephones, (4) percentage of farms with home food freezers, and (5) percentage of farms with automobiles.

With the average rural level of living for the country put at a base figure of 100, the index for Imperial County, California, the highest ranking, was 243.

The 10 counties with the lowest indexes were mojntain or hill counties in Kentucky, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Mississippi. Their indexes ranged from 35 to 12.

The indexes of the various states in the order of their ranking: Arizona 167 per cent of the national average; California 147; Nevada 135; Iowa 128; Montana and Wyoming 126; Illinois 125; Connecticut and Colorado 124; Nebraska and New Jersey 123; Delaware and Idaho 122; Washington 121; Oregon 119; Kansas and Indiana 117; New York 118; North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, and Maryland 113.

Utah, Ohio and Rhode Island 112; Wisconsin and Massachusetts 111; Vermont and Pennsylvania 110; Michigan 106; New Hampshire 104; Texas 103; Florida 102; New Mexico and Alaska 100; Maine 99; Missouri 93; Oklahoma 91; Louisiana 90; Georgia 82; Virginia 80; North Carolina and South Carolina 74; Kentucky 72; Tennessee 71; West Virginia 68; Alabama 65; Arkansas 64; and Mississippi 62.

A comparison of the level of living indexes for the top county and the lowest county gives a graphic illustration of the wide economic differences prevailing in agriculture.

The first county — Imperial in California — showed farms had an average value of $205,000 for land and buildings compared with $3,000 for the lowest county — Leslie in Kentucky. The value of sales per farm were $130,500 and $200; percentage of farms with telephones 81 and 10; percentage with home freezers 53 and 10; percentage with automobiles 89 and 12, and income per farm $41,500 and less than $100.

Ice Cream Output In State Reaches New Record High

Ice cream production in Wisconsin in 1961 reached a new record-high according to the annual dairy production figures released by the Wisconsin Crop Reporting Service.

Wisconsin's production of ice cream has been rising almost steadily for the past decade. Last year's output was a third above the 1952 total. Contributing to the upswing in ice cream production in recent years is the rapidly growing population, and the fact that ice cream is being accepted as a year-around food.

Dairy plants in the state made 23,574,000 gallons of ice cream in 1961 to rank Wisconsin ninth among the states in output. The state's ice cream output in 1961 was 3.4 per cent of the nation's total.

Ice cream production in 1952 was reported at 17,696,000 gallons and in 1942 at 12,686,000 gallons. The total production for the first half of this year is estimated at 11,530,000 gallons or nearly equal to Wisconsin's output for all of 1942.

Agriculture Department Gets New Legal Council

Donald N. McDowell, director of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, this week announced that G. A. Schueler will join his staff Oct. 1 as legal counsel. Schueler fills the position vacated when Fred Griffith, former legal counsel, was named deputy director. Schueler was one of three men certified for the post after a civil-service examination.

Schueler, a native of Janesville, has been legal counsel for the Board of Architects and Engineers since 1959. He was employed as supervisor of the housing loan program of the Department of Veterans Affairs from 1951-1959.

More Than 200 Outagamie Farms Breed Beef Animals

BY RUSSELL L. LUCKOW
Farm & Home Development Agent

More than 200 farms in Outagamie County now have beef animals on them according to information furnished the agricultural extension office by town assessors this summer

Luckow

The number could vary all the way from one to two animals per farm to 300 head or more

Many of the farms having only two to three head of beef started in the business by breeding the dairy cow or heifer to a beef bull This trend started two or more years ago to increase farm income

As I travel around the county, I notice more and more herds of purebred beef cattle The most popular breeds seem to be Angus and Hereford A farmer in the beef production business is usually involved in either raising calves or feeding them out To a large extent beef producers specialize in one process or the other

The First North Eastern Wisconsin Beef Producers feeder cattle sale will be at Bonduel, Oct 20 More than 350 head of feeder cattle from producers in 10 North Eastern Wisconsin counties have been consigned to the first sale The sale is sponsored by the beef producers' own organization in cooperation with the agricultural extension office in this area A total of 36 head of feeder cattle has been consigned by producers from Outagamie County

The other day I read that Americans, you and I included, eat over 83 pounds of beef a year, compared to 50 pounds 30 years ago

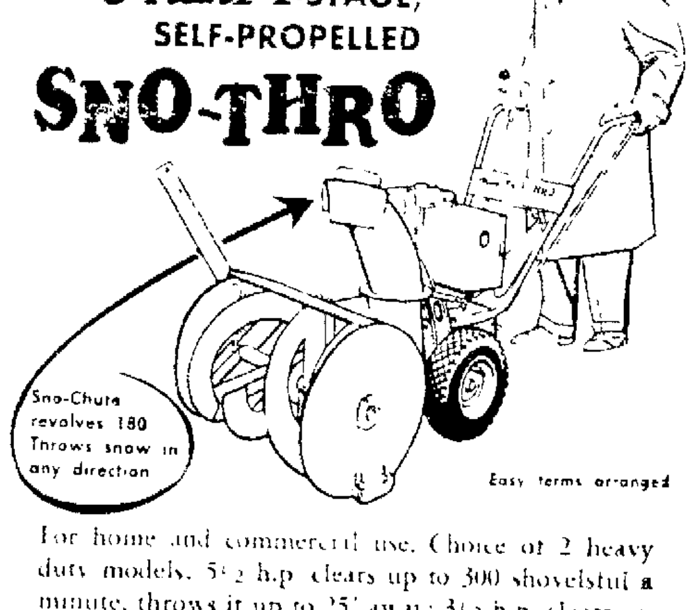

In my next column, I will discuss in detail how the beef enterprise compares to the dairy operation on a typical North Eastern Wisconsin farm

Alfalfa Acreage Growing Rapidly

Acreage of alfalfa on Wisconsin farms is continuing its phenomenal increase. Latest reports show a jump to 2,901,000 acres

The 138,000 acre increase over last year's total shouldn't be any surprise. Alfalfa acreage has been increasing regularly since 1920, when we had only about 150,000 acres But by 1932 there were 364,000 acres, then over a million acres in 1942, and nearly two million acres in 1952.

According to F. V. Burcalow, University of Wisconsin forage specialist, improved alfalfa varieties with their disease resistance and winter hardiness have helped make the increased acreage possible. Better management, such as liming and fertilizing, has also contributed to the increased popularity.

But Burcalow looks for new advancements to make alfalfa an even better crop. Early cutting under a three cut system is already resulting higher quality feed in the southern two-thirds of the state. Eventually plant beeders may provide high yielding, winter hardy and wilt resistant varieties which also have a range of maturities. One variety might come into bloom the 25th of May, another the 2nd of June, and another the 10th of June This way farmers would be able to harvest more of their crop at the right stage of growth than is now possible with the entire acreage coming into bloom at the same time.

Lettuce Becomes Important Crop For State Growers

Wisconsin's rapidly increasing acreage of head lettuce may indicate the state's bid for a place in the fresh vegetable market, according to the Wisconsin Crop Reporting Service.

The state has been recognized as a leader in the production of vegetables for processing for many years, but only in recent years has it won a place on the crop estimates list of fresh vegetables. Acreage and production estimates have been published for many years for cabbage for fresh market as well as kraut. But the fresh market list now includes carrots, lettuce, onions, and cauliflower.

Wisconsin is included in the list of seven states producing a summer crop of head lettuce. This year the state's farmers have 3 200 acres of lettuce for harvest compared with 2 700 last year

Yields per acre average 140 hundredweight and total production may be 448 000 hundredweight. While farmers began growing lettuce commercially in the 1940's, the crop has gained importance in the past five years. The state's summer lettuce crop ranks fourth among the seven states

Wisconsin lettuce growers compete mostly with Colorado growers for the market The state's growers now supply more than 20 markets throughout the nation as well as local consumers Chicago is the largest single out-of-state market

Brillion Dairyman Named Outstanding Cheesemaker

Donald Deffke, School Grove Manager, Takes 2 Blue Ribbons

BY JAN ALBERT

BRILLION — Winning blue ribbons in two of four divisions, Donald Deffke, rural Brillion cheesemaker, won the outstanding cheesemaker award at the Calumet County Fair.

Deffke grew up on a dairy farm near Collins. As a small boy, he hauled milk to his uncle's cheese factory two miles from home. In 1946, he began working at the uncle's cheese factory, Fairview Dairy, Collins. He was an apprentice helper for 18 months. Also, he attended vocational school where he learned quality testing of cheese, bookkeeping and cheese factory operational methods.

He worked at Midway Dairy Cooperative, Mishicot, as cheesemaking manager until 1950. That year, he began his present job, cheesemaking manager at School Grove Dairy Cooperative, rural Brillion, where he made the award winning cheeses.

Won Other Awards

The county fair award was not Deffke's first for high quality cheeses. At the 1960 fair, his class three entry won first prize. In 1958, he won an efficiency award based on quality checks of cheese over a one-year period. Participating cheesemakers had no idea when the checks were being made. Deffke's efficiency rating was 99.59.

Factory milk volume for 1961 was 7 million pounds. The volume of cheese was about 650 thousand pounds. Daily cheese production varies betweeen 1,700 and 2,500 pounds.

The School Grove factory is a farmers' cooperative. There are no stockholders. Farmers pay nothing to haul milk to it. They sign no contracts and can start or stop hauling at will. Farmers are paid once a month, based on the butterfat content of milk brought in.

Shipped to Co-op

All School Grove's cheese is shipped to a producer's cooperative at Plymouth, where the cheese is graded, parafined and resold through its own broker. Much of the cheese is sold to a Minneapolis firm.

In a typical day's operation at School Grove cooperative, milk is unloaded, pasteurized and put into vats with a mold which makes it "jell." The mass is cut into one inch cubes called curds. The cubes are salted and put into hoops for pressing. The cubes, under pressure, become cheese.

Cheese is shipped in wooden boxes--73 pounds for cheddar, 13 pounds for longhorn and 22 pounds for daisy. The difference in weights depends upon the size of the pressing frame.

Officers of the School Grove cooperative are Edwin Seybold, president, and Edwin Loefer, Bert Stanelle, Donald Bastian and Allen Knoespel, directors.

Grandview 4-H Club Plans Halloween Party

Grandview 4-H Club will have a Halloween party at the October meeting. Members will come dressed in costume.

On the committee will be Diane Baehman, Kay Siegrist, Lu Ann Jennerjohn, Peggy Sousek, Jane Bartelt, Kay Krause, Chari Krenke and Becky Ziegler.

New Corn Hybrid Seeds Will be Available in '64

A new field corn hybrid with superior "standability" has been released to seed producers and should be available to farmers for the 1964 season, according to N. P. Neal of the University of Wisconsin.

The seed parent of the new hybrid has a more desirable kernel type than the older variety which was used in comparison tests. Neal says the new hybrid has a 95-maturity rating, producing medium short, compact ears that are somewhat thicker than those of the old variety. Yield and moisture content are about the same for the two hybrids.

No Detasseling

Seed for the new hybrid can be produced with a male-sterile seed parent and a "fertility restorer" pollen parent. This means no detasseling is needed.

Fertility-restorer pollen parents have become available only in recent years. Previously, with seed production by the male-sterile method it was necessary to blend two-thirds male-sterile seed with one-third male-sterile of the same hybrid, produced by the detasseling method. These male-fertile plants provided enough pollen for all the plants in the farmer's field. Male-sterile plants do not produce "live" pollen.

The use of a male-sterile seed parent and a fertility - restorer "male" parent eliminates costly detasseling and blending operations and results in more certain varietal purity and dependability.

Beekeepers to Meet

The Outagamie County Beekeepers Association will have its annual meeting at 7 p.m. Oct. 3 in the Ambrosia Room at Elm Tree Bakery, Appleton.
